Fight For Future Of India Between Two Parivars – Gandhi Parivar And Sangh Parivar, Says Telangana Chief Minister A. Revanth Reddy“Rahul Gandhi will be next PM of India

Yamsani Srinivas National bureau Chief KeralaSeptember 26 ““HIGHLIGHTS“Gandhi Parivar stands for sacrifice: Mahatma Gandhi, Indira Gandhi and Rajiv Gandhi gave up their lives for the country Sonia Gandhi, Rahul Gandhi and Priyanka Gandhi sacrificed post, power and position Sangh Parivar is dividing India based religion, caste, region and language Fight for India between two parivars I have no ambition left for myself – only dedicated to making Rahul Gandhi the Prime Minister of India Let us all unite behind Gandhi Parivar to protect India, democracy, secularism, and freedom It is an honour to be first person from outside Kerala to receive the prestigious Aryadan Muhammed award REST OF THE SPEECH I am always happy to come to Kerala. Every time I come here, I have received a warm welcome. I came here for Bharat Jodo Yatra led by Shri Rahul Gandhi ji. I came here for Assembly elections campaign. We asked people for their vote and they have given us a government Kerala is close to my heart. I thank Kerala because you stand for secularism, you support Congress party and my leaders.“ Today, we have gathered to honour the memory of Shri Aryadan Muhammed. He was a master politician, who served as an MLA eight times, including four times as a minister under many different Chief Ministers. He was like a Chanakya in Kerala politics. Shri Aryadan was a true Congress man. He served the party for over five decades. It is my privilege to receive an award named in memory of Shri Aryadan Muhammed – I thank the jury for considering me. It is great honour that Shri K. C. Venugopal ji, one of our tallest leaders in national politics, is here to personally give me this award. It is another great Congress party in Nilambur and in Kerala. He was like a and finally, New Delhi. If you look back, when Kerala elects Congress in gress comes to power in 2004. When Pinarayi Vijayan has power in Kerala, then Narendra Modi becomes PM 2014 to 2026. Now we see a new breeze, a new wind, in 2026 when Congress wins in Kerala again. That political breeze is blowing from Kerala and is becoming a storm. Smt Indira Gandhi and Shri Rajiv Gandhi sacrificed their lives for us. Smt Sonia Gandhi and Shri Rahul Gandhi have sacrificed power and position – and did not take post of Prime Minister or President. Now, HISTORY is calling. Rahul Gandhi has to become PM and save India from communal forces, from forces who are stealing everything. “Vote ki chori, party ki chori, symbol ki chori, funds ki chori... They are stealing future of youth. They are stealing the foundation of democracy and India integrity of vote. As I said, Kerala is the bell-weather state. Congress hawa has started from here. We have to make it a Tsunami, across India. As a Congress worker, I feel close to Kerala, because you elected Rahul Gandhi ji, and Smt Priyanka Gandhi ji to Parliament from here. Friends, I have no personal ambition. In 2006, I started at grass roots. In 20 years, I have seen everything – ZPTC, MLC, MLA, MP, PCC President and Chief Minister. “My only dream left is to make Rahul Gandhi the prime Minister of India. There will be a Congress-led government in Delhi and Rahul ji will be PM. “We have to stand with Rahul ji to take this political Tsunami to every house, every street, every village and city and every state of India. Winds of change are blowing. Every part of India is listening to goonj of Rahul Gandhi’s words of hope. Let us stand behind Rahul ji till we totally save India from communal forces.

privilege to learn that I am the first person from outside Kerala to be chosen for this great award. I receive this award as a Congress party worker, as a soldier and fighter of a team led by Rahul ji Aryadan Muhammed was the strength of

A Teacher Who Hasn’t Stepped into a Classroom in Twenty Years Handling Everything from Assistant to Officer Roles“ Currently Playing Dual Roles in ‘Open School’ and ‘ULLAS’“

Nathari Venkatesh State Bureau Chief Hyderabad September 26 : The notion that a school-teacher cannot make a decent living, or that their role is confined merely to the school bell and the monthly paycheck, is a thing of the past. Contrary to this, a case has come to light in Warangal district involving a teacher who has not attended a classroom for twenty years yet has been drawing his salary with clockwork regularity. This serves as an example of how many teachers, having grown accustomed to working in District Education Office (DEO) premises often in violation of the Right to Education Act are unwilling to return to actual school duties. A Secondary Grade Teacher in the undivided Warangal district assumed the role of an assistant to Sectoral Officers at the Samagra Shiksha office twenty years ago. Despite subsequently receiving a promotion, he continues to cling to the district office, playing various roles and refusing to leave. After ingratiating himself with district officials and serving as an assistant to Sectoral Officers for several years, he went on to serve as an Assistant to the District Coordinator (Academic/Monitoring) for a further period. After a transfer, he worked briefly in Mahabubabad district before securing a posting at a school near the district headquarters through a general transfer process. When a promotion opportunity arose shortly thereafter, he accepted a position as a School Assistant in Rayaparthi Mandal. However, preferring not to work far from the district headquarters, he convinced officials to appoint him as the district's 'ULLAS' Coordinator a role requiring full-time presence at the district office thereby allowing him to attend to his personal affairs. In reality, the ULLAS Coordinator role was designated for Secondary Grade Teachers, yet he assumed the position contrary to these norms. Subsequently, eyeing the vacant Assistant Programming Officer post at the district office, he managed to secure that appointment a role also intended for Secondary Grade Teachers. When Treasury officials eventually clarified that this arrangement violated regulations, he reverted to the role of ULLAS Coordinator. Currently, he has been vying for the vacant DSO (District Statistical Officer) post at the district office. Furthermore, he is now pressuring officials to appoint him as the Academic Monitoring Officer. Claiming to be the Open School Coordinator as well, he continues to camp at the district office instead of attending his assigned school.

Despite a shortage of teachers in the district's high schools, he has been allowed to continue in his position, thereby causing a disservice to the students. For the past 20 years, he has not set foot on the school premises; instead, he has remained stationed at the administrative office in violation of the Right to Education Act even though the school has only one sanctioned post for the role. Although the District Collector reprimanded him and directed him to report to the school, he continues to stay at the office, citing various excuses to avoid going there. Student unions and social organizations have reportedly lodged complaints with higher authorities and the Human Rights Commission regarding this situation, where he draws a salary without actually attending the school.

Impeach Gyanesh Kumar Immediately, Defend and Restore the Democratic Rights of the Indian People “General Secretary: Pradip Singha Thakur Mob: 9477573940 - Email: cpimlmasslinecentre@gmail.com

National Bureau Chief New Delhi September 26: Communist Party of India (Marxist-Leninist) Mass Line Central Committee of Communist Party of India (Marxist-Leninist) Mass Line is strongly of the opinion that the investigative report published in the Indian Express has verified what the people of India had long pointed out that the Election Commission of India, led by Gyanesh Kumar, has long been operating well beyond its mandate, and well beyond what the Indian Constitution permits, illegally denying countless Indian citizens their right to vote, and even their citizenship. The investigation is unambiguous: two of the three Election Commissioners Sukhbir Singh Sandhu and Vivek Joshi formally recorded objections at least fourteen times over ten months, calling decisions taken in the name of the full Commission “unauthorized and illegal.” We must note that this time it is not the accusation by opposition parties or the 'Dimagi Naxal' civil society. It is dissent from within the Election Commission itself, confirming what millions of disenfranchised citizens have alleged for months: that Chief Election Commissioner Gyanesh Kumar has run the ECI as a unilateral fiefdom, sidelining his own colleagues to ram through a Special Intensive Revision (SIR) that has stripped crores of Indians disproportionately the poor, migrant, minority, and marginalized of their right to vote, and with it, their claim to citizenship and to a dignified life under the Constitution. This is not a mistake, or inefficient administration; this is deliberate disenfranchisement by design of Indians whose political loyalties are suspected by the people in power. Gyanesh Kumar has presided over the deliberate subversion of a Constitutional institution to manufacture electoral outcomes for the ruling

BJP-RSS establishment, at the Centre and in the States. With these revelations, every election conducted under an SIR corrupted roll stands under a cloud of illegitimacy and so, by extension, does every government that claims a mandate from it. The man engineering this is Gyanesh Kumar. He now stands accused not only by the people of India or the opposition parties, but by his own peers and colleagues and he must be held accountable. Central Committee of Communist Party of India (Marxist-Leninist) Mass Line demands Immediate impeachment proceedings against Gyanesh Kumar, and a fair, independent, time-bound investigation into his conduct and that of every senior EC official complicit in these decisions. “Immediate and retrospective cancellation of the SIR and full restoration of citizenship and voting rights to every wrongfully deleted voter. Constitutional amendment to guarantee the independence, transparency, and accountability of the ECI, insulating it permanently from executive capture. Fast-tracking of the pending Supreme Court matter on criminal accountability of ECI officials the Court must take suo motu cognizance of this expose without delay. We call on our fellow citizens, across the anti-fascist political spectrum, to build a united movement to defend the political and citizenship rights of the Indian people. India belongs to all Indians, we won't let people like Gyanesh Kumar and his masters to steal the country from us, and render a part of the population into stateless, second class citizens without any political rights. Gyanesh Kumar must go. “Pradip Singha Thakur General Secretary Central committee. “Potu Ranga Rao Telangana state Secretary. CPI (ML) Mass Line

INDIA'S DIPLOMATIC SUCCESS AT 18TH BRICS SUMMIT

The achievement of the latest summit is not that it resolved the world's conflicts; it is that it prevented those conflicts from destroying BRICS' ability to talk to one another.

The unanimous New Delhi Declaration at the 18th BRICS Summit marks a diplomatic success for India, given the 11-member grouping's divergent interests and fractured internal politics. Bringing together widely conflicting strategic interests and crafting a carefully worded, mutually agreeable document is a commendable task in itself. The context was complicated: Iran-UAE tensions over the West Asia conflict, the Russia-Ukraine war, and, more importantly, the United States—the elephant in the room—created formidable obstacles to consensus building. India's diplomacy was the decisive factor in holding the text together. It used its strong ties with all members and worked behind the scenes to overcome the biggest hurdle—convincing the UAE and Iran, which sit on opposite sides of the West Asia conflict, to sign on. The outcome serves as evidence that BRICS can still function as a forum even amid real fractures among its members. However, one should not lose sight of the inherent limitations of the bloc. A key limitation is that, though BRICS can keep difficult conversations alive and affirm broad principles, it struggles to assign responsibility or organise collective action when interests occasionally collide. The document does not attempt to solve the world's most intractable conflicts overnight, nor does it establish an immediate replacement for Western financial supremacy. It is still a long way to go for it to become a unified geopolitical bloc capable of collective action on the conflicts it discusses.

The Delhi summit proved that BRICS can survive its geopolitical contradictions, but survival cannot be taken as a strategic transformation. After demonstrating its capability to hold together a highly heterogeneous grouping at a moment when consensus appeared particularly difficult, a much harder test for India is to use that consensus to produce concrete economic and diplomatic outcomes. The achievement of the latest summit was not that it resolved the world's conflicts; it was that it prevented the world's conflicts from destroying the bloc's ability to talk to one another. That is no small achievement in the present geopolitical environment. But the next stage will determine whether BRICS becomes more than a forum for carefully negotiated communiqués. The real test will be whether it can convert multipolarity into institutional reform, AI cooperation into actual technological partnerships and Global South solidarity into development finance. The declaration was unambiguously strong on the issue of terrorism. The 2025 Pahalgam attack, which killed 26 people, was condemned in the strongest terms, with leaders calling all terrorism "criminal and unjustifiable" regardless of motivation, and pledging zero tolerance. However, the document's careful omissions were as revealing as its assertions. It avoided naming the US over the strikes on Iran and also did not condemn Iranian attacks on Gulf Arab states. Nor did it criticise Russia for waging a war against Ukraine. Instead, the declaration relied on broad principles — restraint, sovereignty, civilian protection, dialogue and diplomacy.

Telangana's Brave Woman Chakali Ailamma

Yamsani Srinivas Senior Journalist

Ailamma, a brave woman born on the soil of Telangana, a brave woman who stood up to injustice. The courage she showed in her fight for the rights of the poor, the courage she showed in her steps. The voice that defied the tyranny of the nobility, the flame that burned for the farmers. Ailamma, a mother who stood strong for the weak, a brave woman who made Telangana proud. Her struggle is an inspiration for generations, her courage is an example for all of us. A female fighter who did not turn her heel in the Telangana armed struggle in the city. She is a leader. A brave woman with a courageous heart, Chityala Ailamma was born on September 26, 1895. She is a Telangana hero known as Chakali Ailamma. A woman who paved the way for modern social development. Chakali Ailamma was born as the fourth child of Oruganti Mallamma and Sailu in Krishnapuram village of Rayachoti mandal, Warangal district. Ailamma was married to Chityala Narsayya of Palakurthi at an early age. They had five sons and two daughters. The family was economically backward and the Chakali caste was their source of livelihood. Between 1940-44, Ailamma raised a red flag against the anarchy of the Deshmukhs and Raskars in Visnur. Ailamma was at the forefront of those who sang the final song of the culture where upper caste women and dorasans were also called 'Dora' by the BC castes. If they were not called Dora, the demonic instincts present in the upper castes as well as their concubines would have come out in many forms of oppression. Those forms of oppression would have been unleashed on the backward castes. They would have incited their husbands against the women of the productive castes who did not call them Dora and had them raped from close quarters. This land belongs to me, my cooked crop, no one will take it away. You can get this crop and land after my death, the firebrand of Telangana's revolutionary fire that burned like a fire in the hearts of the nobles, Chakali Ailamma Mallampalli, who had 40 acres of land in Palakurthi from landlord Kondal Rao, took it on lease. Four acres of it were cultivated. Palakurthi Patwari Veerama Seshagiri Rao had animosity towards Ailamma's family. Andhra Mahasabha was formed under the leadership of Jeedi Somanasayya. Ailamma was a member of that association. Palakurthi Patwari Seshagiri Rao pressured Ailamma with her family to come and work in his field, but she refused to work. Visunur Deshmukh complained to Rapaka Ramchandra Reddy that Ailamma's family had joined the communists due to the Palakurthi Patwari's insistence. Along with top leaders, Ailamma's family was implicated in the case. However, the verdict in the court came against Deshmukh. Deshmukh, who felt that if he financially harmed Ailamma's family, the Sangha would lose its hold, summoned the landowners and registered the land leased by Ailamma in his name. Deshmukh persuaded a hundred people to harvest the crop, claiming that the land was his and the cooked grain was his. Andhra Mahasabha activists cut the paddy, tied the paddy and brought the grain to Ailamma's house. Bheemreddy Narasimha Reddy, Arutla Ramchandra Reddy and Chakili Yadagiri also carried sacks of grain on their shoulders. With the help of Konda Laxman Bapuji, the verdict came in favor of Ailamma. Deshmukh, who was the sub-commander of the Rajakars, was defeated twice. Ailamma's house was also burnt down. Money and grain were taken away. Ailamma's daughter Somansamma was raped. Ailamma's three sons demolished the house of the Palakurthi

Patwari and cooked the maize crop on the same spot. Despite suffering losses in many ways, Ailamma's family did not let go of the red flag. 'How can this landlord harm me more than this?' she asked herself. Not knowing what her landlord would do, she bravely picked up a rock and beat up the goons. She went on foot and challenged the landlord. With the victory of Ailamma's land struggle, the communists attacked the house of the Palakurthi landlord and distributed the grain to the people. 90 acres of the landlord's land was also distributed to the people. Starting from Ailamma's land struggle until the end of the armed struggle, four thousand members of the productive castes became martyrs. 10 lakh acres of land were distributed. Ailamma, who was an inspiration to the people's struggles, died of illness on September 10, 1985. The CPM party built the Ailamma memorial stupa and memorial building in Palakurthi. The state government has officially issued orders to officially celebrate her birth anniversary. Their fighting spirit should be an example for everyone. Everyone should study their history.

Sub-committee Meeting held under the Chairmanship of RDO N. Venkatesh Regarding District Survey Reports for Minerals in the District

Ch. Abhinay Bureau Chief Warangal September 26 : A meeting of the Sub-Divisional Committee was held under the chairmanship of Hanumakonda RDO N. Venkatesh, in accordance with the guidelines of the Union Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change (MoEF&CC) and the directives of District Collector Smt. Chahat Bajpai. As per the orders of the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India and the provisions of the EIA Notification, 2006, it is mandatory to include details of mines/quarries in the District Survey Report (DSR) for the grant of Environmental Clearance (EC). Without an updated and accurate DSR, the processing of ECs for mining projects comes to a halt. Against this backdrop, the Hanumakonda Collector constituted a District Sub-Divisional Committee by the RDO to update the existing District Survey Reports and prepare the necessary annexures regarding minerals in the district. The committee member including the District Geologist/Mining Officer, Irrigation Department Officer N. Ramachari, B. Ram Mohan, Pollution Control Board AE Subhash, Forest Department Officer B. Ratan Lal, and KUDA Planning Department Officer K.

Shankarmet at the Hanumakonda RDO office. Therefore, the committee opined that it was necessary to review the existing District Survey Reports (DSRs) for all minor minerals to identify any missing lease areas or survey numbers, as well as any incorrectly recorded details specifically those falling within ecologically sensitive zones that required immediate exclusion.

Consequently, the Office of the Assistant Director of Mines and Geology prepared DSRs for all minerals available in Hanumakonda district, obtained approval from the State Environmental Impact Assessment Authority (SEIAA) in Hyderabad, and published them on the Hanumakonda district website for public viewing, inviting objections if any.

Has Directed The Concerned Officials To Expediently Submit Comprehensive Proposals Godavari Pushkaralu District Collector Rahul Sharma

Rakam Radhika, Bureau Chief Warangal September 26 : Cost estimates for the various development and road construction works planned for the Godavari Pushkaralu. "In accordance with government directives, District Collector Rahul Sharma ordered officials to quickly submit detailed proposals and estimates for development and road construction projects associated with the Godavari Pushkaralu. He participated via video conference from the IDOC office in a meeting regarding Pushkaralu development works, convened on Saturday by Endowments Department Secretary Shailaja Ramaiyar. Subsequently, he held a review meeting with officials from the Revenue, Endowments, Planning, Roads & Buildings (R&B), Panchayat Raj, and Electricity departments to discuss progress and proposals. During the meeting, he instructed Panchayat Raj (PR) engineering officials to immediately submit proposals for additional road works estimated at ₹5.08 crore, in addition to the previously sanctioned works worth ₹92 lakh; he also directed them to prepare proposals for any remaining works. The Collector explicitly ordered the preparation and submission of a report regarding the Sewage Treatment Plant (STP) and directed officials to take steps to commence works for which the tendering process has already been completed. Collector Rahul Sharma directed officials to expedite the completion of all proposals and submit the reports to higher authorities. Kataram Sub-Collector Saurav Sharma and officials from the Endowments, Planning, R&B, Panchayat Raj, Electricity, and other departments participated in the meeting.

Telangana's El Nino contingency plan comes under scanner amid water, power woes

Hyderabad: The State government's El Nino contingency plan prepared for the Vanakalam 2026 season has come under the scanner, with farmers demanding water supply and domestic consumers complaining about power outages.

Three months after the Central government and the India Meteorological Department cautioned about the impact of El Nino, the State Irrigation and Agriculture departments initiated a contingency plan in July to deal with the challenges.

Similarly, the expert panel constituted by the Telangana government to study the impact of El Nino submitted its report for the current Vanakalam season. It recommended a Rs. 802.92 crore contingency package to mitigate the situation. It specifically insisted on implementing contingency measures to protect agriculture, safeguard farmers' interests and livelihoods, besides ensuring drinking water and fodder security.

Against this backdrop, the State government's commitment to implementing the contingency plan has now come under the scanner. Farmers in several parts of the State, particularly those from Chief Minister A Revanth Reddy's home district of Palamuru, have been taking to the streets demanding the release of water from various projects.

Farmers under the Jurala Project ayacut, Koilsagar ayacut and other medium irrigation projects have been staging protests for the past few days, demanding water to save their standing crops.

At this juncture, farmers' associations are questioning the initiatives taken by the government. Though Congress Ministers and MLAs from erstwhile Palamuru met Karnataka Chief Minister DK Shiva Kumar seeking release of 5 tmcft of water, there has not been any official announcement on the water release. Since the last two days, average inflows of about 5,000 cusecs a day have been recorded at the project, providing much-needed relief to the farmers.

"But why did the government not initiate talks with the Karnataka government beforehand to secure water release to protect crops. Was this not planned as part of contingency measures," asked a member of the Telangana Farmers Federation.

Interestingly, Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister N Chandrababu Naidu recently claimed that his government was supplying Krishna water all the way from Srisaillam to his constituency, Kuppam, covering a distance of 660 km. This has raised questions over the Congress government's preparedness in initiating measures for judicious use of water between Andhra Pradesh and Telangana. In the wake of the El Nino impact, it has also brought the State government's commitment to safeguarding Telangana's interests under scrutiny, a member of the Telangana Farmers Federation observed.

Congress MLAs complain about power supply issues in Assembly.

The challenges are not confined to the irrigation sector. Farmers have been staging protests at substations across the State over inadequate power supply, a concern that several Congress MLAs also admitted to in the Assembly last week.

Farmers dependent on borewells to cultivate crops are complaining about damage to pumpsets due to erratic and poor-quality power supply.

Likewise, domestic consumers are also complaining about power outages and frequent disruptions. The unscheduled power cuts are leaving consumers fuming.

In July, Deputy Chief Minister Mallu Bhatti Vikramarka directed officials to ensure maximum power generation at TGGENCO thermal power stations in view of the El Nino impact.

Citing deficient rainfall this season and its adverse impact on hydel power generation, he said measures should be initiated to ensure adequate and uninterrupted supply of quality coal to all thermal stations. Despite these plans, complaints of power outages continue to pour in from the farming community as well as domestic consumers.

Sama Praneeth Reddy Wins Balapur Ganesh Laddu for Rs.39 Lakh

Hyderabad: Breaking its previous records, Balapur Ganesh laddu was auctioned for a whopping `39 lakh — `4 lakh more than the last year.

After waiting for four years, Sama Praneeth Reddy, the founder of the Urban Group, and a resident of Vanasthalipuram, emerged victorious in the auction. In addition to the previous successful bidder, a total of nine new individuals, including Sama Dayanand Reddy from London, participated in the auction held in Balapur on Friday. Praneeth Reddy said he would distribute the laddu to the economically-weaker people. This year, the laddu auctioning was delayed by over two hours due to an issue while transferring the idol on to the vehicle.

The laddu auctioning trend that commenced in Balapur has spread to several associations and gated communities.

At the Richmond Villas in Bandlaguda Jagir, Ganesh laddu was auctioned for `1.01 crore, less than half of last year's `2.32 crore. The Kohinoor by Auro Realty in Hitec City recorded a bid of `30.5 lakh. At the Chevella Rachabanda Ganapathi Utsavam, Bandari Srinivas Reddy secured Ganesh laddu for `28.11 lakh.

At the MyHome Mangala in Kondapur the laddu fetched `21.11 lakh, with Sambashiva Rao and Naveen winning the bid, while laddu at MyHome Bhooja received `25 lakh successful bid. At Indis Viva City in Kondapur, Ramsri Goutham and his wife Vaishali Bholewar won the laddu for `13.21 lakh.

Similarly, in Raghupathi County in Pragathinagar Naren Chowdary and his friends won laddu for `13.66 lakh, while at Devasthan Homes in Kukatpally fetched `10.05 lakh. In Badangpet, the laddu went to RVR Cloud Kitchen for `10.5 lakh.

At Pochamma Basthi in Attapur, the laddu was purchased by the Gummadi brothers for `13.21 lakh. In Aparna Serenity, Kompally, Kola Anji Reddy secured the laddu for `13 lakh. At Chinthla Basthi in Khairatabad, Arun Kumar purchased the laddu for `10.10 lakh.

At Brundavan colony under Ibrahimpatnam Municipality, a Muslim, Mohammed Harshad, won the large-size laddu and his brother secured a small laddu.

In N.N. Colony at ECIL, where a nearly 25-foot-tall Ganesh idol was installed, a 7-kg laddu was auctioned for `37,000, while a five-kg laddu fetched `25,000.

Many gated communities and resident welfare associations held their Ganesh immersions last Saturday, with some opting for eco-friendly idols while others continued with Plaster of Paris (PoP) idols. In several communities, the money raised through laddu auctions was put towards community activities and social causes, including support for orphanages and infrastructure in government schools.

At Golf View, half the amount was donated to charity last year. A. Narasimhan, a resident, said, they have been following the practice for the past two years. "We keep half of the amount for next year's celebrations and donate the remaining amount to orphanages or for infrastructure development in government schools," he said. This year, however, the residents are yet to decide how the proceeds will be utilised. The laddu fetched around `3 lakh at the auction.

At Aparna Cyber Commune, the laddu was auctioned for `45,000. Resident Rajeev Gautam said the community has been choosing eco-friendly clay idols every year. "We celebrate Ganesh Chaturthi every year with only eco-friendly Matti Ganesh idols. This year, the laddu was auctioned for `45,000," he said.

Residents of Green Fields Society in Nizampet also opted for a clay idol and an on-site immersion. The society dug a pit for the immersion and plans to use the same space to grow a tree later.

"We encouraged residents to choose eco-friendly Matti Ganesh idols and wanted to ensure that the celebrations did not affect the environment or inconvenience the community. We also had bhajans and concluded the pooja by around 8 or 9 pm. We did not use DJs or play songs with objectionable lyrics," said S Aishwarya, a resident.

B Vinod Kumar asks Centre to amend anti-defection law

Former BRS MP B Vinod Kumar urged the BJP-led Centre to amend the Tenth Schedule and introduce a three-month deadline for deciding disqualification petitions. He cited an ADR report showing 111 elected representatives changed parties between 2022 and 2026.

Hyderabad: Former BRS MP B Vinod Kumar has hit back at BJP leaders over their criticism of BRS on defections, asking the Centre to introduce a Bill to strengthen the anti-defection law instead of making political allegations. He demanded that the BJP-led Centre introduce the Bill, with a mandatory three-month deadline for deciding disqualification petitions, in the coming winter session.

In a statement, Vinod Kumar said the BJP should prove its commitment to checking defections by amending the Tenth Schedule rather than making political allegations. He demanded a mechanism to prevent disqualification petitions from being kept pending indefinitely and said elected representatives who switch parties should face automatic disqualification.

The senior BRS leader cited an Association for Democratic Reforms (ADR) report released on September 24, which recorded 111 elected representatives changing parties between 2022 and 2026. The figure included 26 Lok Sabha MPs, seven Rajya Sabha MPs and 78 MLAs. He alleged that nine BRS MLAs in Telangana had joined the Congress after winning elections on BRS tickets, and questioned the Congress over its stand on defections. The ADR report does record nine Telangana lawmakers among the 111 elected representatives who changed parties during the period.

Vinod Kumar pointed to the Congress' 2024 Lok Sabha manifesto promise to amend the Tenth Schedule to provide for automatic disqualification of MPs and MLAs who leave the party on whose ticket they were elected. He said the BJP should bring the amendment Bill and the Congress should support it. The Congress manifesto does contain a promise to amend the Tenth Schedule to make such defection an automatic disqualification.

"People's mandate is not a licence to change parties," he said, arguing that defections alter electoral verdicts without giving voters an opportunity to decide again.

EAM Turns Tables on Pakistan

United Nations: External affairs minister S. Jaishankar on Friday sharply rebuked a Pakistani journalist who accused India of sponsoring terrorism in Pakistan. "A terrorist country is asking me that question. Come on," Jaishankar said at the UN headquarters. The journalist had shouted, "When will your government stop sponsoring terrorism in Pakistan?" after Jaishankar and Liberian foreign minister Sara Beysolow Nyanti addressed reporters about the Group of Friends on Safety and Security of Shipping and Seafarers.

India's Permanent Representative to the UN, Harish Parvathaneni, told the journalist: "You have heard your reply. You have heard your response, loud and clear." On Thursday, an Indian journalist had asked Pakistan Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif as he entered the UN building: "When will you stop harbouring terrorists?"

Local Election Buzz

AP Local Body Battle: The Hunt for Winning Candidates Suspense Over Seat-Sharing Within the Alliance Parties Scouring for Winning Candidates YCP Focused on Retaining Grassroots Strength

The heat surrounding local body elections in Andhra Pradesh is gradually rising. Political parties are assessing their respective strengths and weaknesses across all tiers—from Gram Panchayats to municipalities, corporations, MPTCs, and ZPTCs. Taking place after the 2024 Assembly elections, this local contest serves as a litmus test to determine how well parties have retained their cadre and to gauge the extent of their organizational strength from the village to the urban level. Consequently, parties view these elections not merely as a means to secure local governance, but as a platform to evaluate their current standing in state politics. However, with the election schedule and the final seat-wise contest details yet to be finalized, the primary focus of major parties remains on identifying candidates and assessing ground-level strength.

Within the ruling alliance, the main point of interest revolves around seat-sharing. Since the TDP, Jana Sena, and BJP are set to contest the local body elections together, the crucial question is which party should contest in which region. Jana Sena has already constituted special committees for these elections and is evaluating its strengths and weaknesses in every constituency. The party leadership has directed that strengths be identified first, particularly within urban local bodies. Recently, Nadendla Manohar clarified that the final seat allocations and candidates have not yet been finalized, emphasizing that priority would be given to contest-ing seats with strong winning prospects. Meanwhile, BJP State President PVN Madhav stated that the three alliance partners are currently assessing their ground-level strength, and a final decision regarding which party contests which seat has not yet been reached. Essentially, the process within the alliance so far is less about competing for seats and more about calculating the organizational strength of each party in every constituency.

As for the Jana Sena Party, there are clear indications that the leadership views these local elections as a matter of prestige. Pawan Kalyan has called for the party to contest in areas where it holds strength and to aim for total victory in those constituencies. There is talk that local leaders are showing interest in seats where the party has potential, particularly in urban areas like Vijayawada, Visakhapatnam, Tirupati, Kurnool, and Anantapur. However, this is where the real test lies. A party's political prominence at the state level does not necessarily translate into a corresponding share of votes in local elections. Seat selection must take into account various factors: ward-level cadre strength, the individual candidate's appeal, local social equations, past voting patterns, and the strength of the opposition. Therefore, a crucial point in upcoming discussions will be whether the alliance partners readily concede every seat Jana Sena desires, or if adjustments will be made based on an assessment of local strengths and weaknesses. For the opposition YCP, these elections present a different kind of test. Having lost power after 2024, the party faces major challenges in reactivating its village-level cadre, coordinating constituency in-charges, and retaining local leadership. YCP chief Y.S. Jagan has already instructed party leaders to prepare to contest every local body seat and to avoid allowing any uncontested victories. He also directed them to identify candidates well in advance at the ward level. Clearly, the YCP's strategy is focused on maintaining a visible presence on the ground. However, the implementation of this strategy will hinge on factors such as constituency-specific internal dynamics, candidate availability, and coordination among local leaders.

Police Commissioner V.C. Sajjanar IPS inspects security arrangements at Khairatabad Bada Ganesh

AMEER HUSSAIN CRIME BEURO CHIEF

Hyderabad Police Commissioner V.C. Sajjanar IPS said nearly 20,000 police personnel have been deployed, with around 10,000 CCTV cameras linked to the TGICCC, to ensure the peaceful and safe conduct of the Ganesh immersion and Shobha Yatra.

Hyderabad/Sept 26 City Police Commissioner V.C. Sajjanar said that elaborate security arrangements have been made by the police department to ensure that the Ganesh idol immersion festivities and Shobha Yatra are conducted peacefully and in a grand manner across the city.

On Saturday, Commissioner Sajjanar, accompanied by senior police officials, inspected the security arrangements and preparations for the immersion of the Khairatabad Bada Ganesh idol at the field level. Earlier, he participated in special prayers for Bada Ganesh along with police officials.

Speaking to the media later, the Commissioner said measures had been taken to ensure the smooth conduct of the Khairatabad Mahaganapathi immersion as well as the main Shobha Yatra from Balapur to Hussainsagar.

He said the police were working according to a comprehensive advance plan in coordination with various government departments, including the GHMC, Electricity Department and Hyderabad Metropolitan Water Supply and Sewerage Board (HMWS&SB), as per the directions of the Telangana government.

Around 20,000 police personnel have been deployed for security duties, he said.

The Commissioner said advanced technology was being extensively used to continuously monitor the Shobha Yatra. Nearly 10,000 CCTV cameras installed along the major procession routes have been connected to the Telangana Integrated Command and Control Centre (TGICCC) in Banjara Hills, from where officials will monitor the movement.

Giving priority to the safety of women and young girls, 26 SHE Teams will remain deployed in crowded areas in three shifts, he said.

Sajjanar advised the public to closely follow the traffic guidelines issued periodically by the city traffic police during the immersion festivities and plan their journeys accordingly.

The Commissioner said the police department was working continuously to ensure that the immersion festivities conclude peacefully and safely. He appealed to citizens to celebrate the festival in a peaceful atmosphere and with joy and enthusiasm.

TATA.CARS Launches Aeris, Giving India a New Reason to Choose a Compact Sedan

- Purpose-built exclusively for personal buyer: Aeris has been designed specifically for private customers, with a greater emphasis on design, comfort, technology, features and personal expression complementing daily use and long-distance driving practicality.
- Petrol and iCNG powertrain choices: Extends customer choice while bringing a more complete and aspirational experience with AMT option.
- Available at all TATA.CARS dealerships across India: Introductory starting price of ₹ 5.29 lakh for petrol and ₹ 6.29 lakh for iCNG. Bookings open now with Deliveries beginning

New Delhi, September 26, 2026: TATA.CARS today announced the launch of the all-new Tata Aeris, a compact sedan designed exclusively for the personal car buyer. With a distinctive new identity and a clear focus on individual aspirations, Aeris reimagines the compact sedan by combining the sedan's inherent strengths of comfort, stability, space, efficiency and elegance with the modern design, technology, safety and ownership experience expected by today's car buyer. Offered in Petrol and CNG powertrains the introductory price for the all new Aeris starts from ₹5.29 lakh for Petrol and ₹6.29 lakh for iCNG.

With Aeris, TATA.CARS is bringing a fresh perspective to a category traditionally anchored in practicality, efficiency and value, elevating these strengths with greater innovation, individuality and a more contemporary experience. In doing so, Aeris breaks from the industry convention of one product serving both fleet and personal use customers, creating a proposition designed exclusively around the needs and aspirations of the individual buyer.

Launching the Aeris, Mr. Shailesh Chandra, Managing Director & CEO, Tata Motors Passenger Vehicles Ltd., said:

"The sedan remains one of the most timeless expressions of the car, with a loyal set of customers who value its distinctive combination of comfort, space, driving dynamics and practicality. With Aeris, we are bringing to life the TATA.CARS philosophy of providing meaningful choice across body styles and powertrains, with a stylish new sedan for customers who see their car as an expression of their progress, achievements and personality. With the customer at the centre of every decision, from design and engineering to technology, safety and the overall driving experience, Aeris has been conceived exclusively for individual ownership. This singular focus gives it a distinct purpose and identity, and customers every reason to desire Aeris."

One Segment. Two distinctly different customers

For too long, the personal compact-sedan customer has been underserved. Despite accounting for nearly 65% of the segment, buyers have largely had to choose from products designed largely for the very different requirements of fleet use. While fleet operators prioritise operating economics, durability and uptime, personal use customers additionally seek a design and feature rich car that reflects their success and aspirations.

With Aeris, TATA.CARS is breaking that convention, bringing much-needed fresh thinking to the category with a simple conviction: distinct customers deserve distinct propositions. Aeris has been designed and engineered solely for customers who prefer a compact sedan for personal and family use.

Re-Survey to Provide Permanent Solution to Land Disputes

80% of Re-Survey Completed in New Velmal

Nirmal District : Remaining Process Should Be Completed at the Earliest: Collector Bhavesh Mishra

Nirmal District Collector Bhavesh Mishra said that the re-survey of lands would provide a permanent solution to land disputes that have been continuing for several years.

On Friday, the Collector held a meeting with villagers and farmers at the Gram Panchayat office premises in New Velmal village of Soan Mandal to review the land re-survey process. During the meeting, he reviewed the progress of the re-survey.

Speaking on the occasion, the Collector said that the re-survey being undertaken by the government would help resolve issues related to land boundaries and ownership rights. He said that 80 percent of the re-survey had already been completed in New Velmal village and directed the officials to complete the remaining process at the earliest.

He advised farmers to remain available at their respective lands during the survey and extend full cooperation to the officials. The Collector appreciated the cooperation being extended by the farmers and directed the concerned teams to work in coordination to ensure that the survey process proceeds smoothly at the field level.

Several farmers said that they were hopeful that the re-survey would resolve the land-related problems that had existed in the village for many years. They assured the officials of their full cooperation until the completion of the survey and expressed their gratitude to the Collector and officials for taking up the initiative.

In-charge Additional Collector (Revenue) Rathod Ramesh, AD Land Survey and Records Vitthal, Tahsildar Santosh, Sarpanch Sagar, concerned officials, staff and farmers participated in the meeting.

visited the site and spoke with the victims. Jayashree and her daughter Tejaswi through the window of the house where they are being held, gathering details about the situation. They subsequently extended their support to Jayashree’s son, Kartik, who was staging a protest in front of the house. Speaking on the occasion, AIDWA District President Ramadevi stated that Jayashree and her daughter Tejaswi have been suffering a living hell for five days without food or sleep due to the confinement. She questioned police officials as to why no action was being taken against the mother-in-law, Meerabai, for this act. They stated that such repeated actions amount to human rights violations. They urged Police Commissioner Shweta, District Collector Chahat Bajpai, and local MLA Naini Rajender Reddy to take immediate action to punish the mother-in-law, Mirabai, according to the law. They also demanded justice by ensuring the handover of the house, which had previously been transferred to Jayashree and her children via a notarized document along with other assets. They warned that if this was not done, they would launch a massive agitation in support of the affected family, led by AIDWA and various people’s organizations. Participants in the event included AIDWA District Vice-President Adupa Tara; Telangana Rajya dhikara Party State women’s wing Vice-President Sangem Swarupa and District leader Tatikonda Sadguna; People’s Organizations JAC District Chairman Madasi Suresh; Mahatma Jyotirao Phule Social Justice Forum State President Kedala Prasad Patel; and Dalit People’s Organization leader Polepaka Satish, among others.

Inspection of Fertilizer Shops in Pegadapalli Mandal

Direct Voice Jagtial Bureau Kyasa Gangadhar September 25 Pegadapalli: Fertilizer sales outlets in Pegadapalli mandal were inspected by the concerned officials. During the inspection, several important instructions were issued to fertilizer dealers. “The dealers were directed to sell only quality and standard fertilizers to farmers and to mandatorily issue a bill/invoice for every sale. Officials made it clear that fertilizers must not be sold at prices higher than the Maximum Retail Price (MRP) prescribed by the government.” The dealers were also instructed to maintain proper records of fertilizer stocks and daily sales by updating the stock register every day. They were asked to provide farmers with bills containing complete details of the fertilizers sold. “Officials directed dealers to strictly follow all rules and regulations related to fertilizer quality, pricing, billing and stock management. They warned that if any violations are found, legal action will be taken as per the provisions of the Fertilizer (Control) Order (FCO).”

“Without Them, I Wouldn’t Be Here” – Comrade Kalyan Director

Director Janakiram is making his directorial debut with Comrade Kalyan, starring Sree Vishnu in the lead role. The film is scheduled to release on October 9. In an exclusive interview with Tupaki, Janakiram spoke about the film, Sree Vishnu, his journey in the industry, and the people who supported him in becoming a director.

Talking about how the project started, Janakiram said that the idea was developed in 2023, while the pre-production work continued for nearly two years. The shooting finally began on February 1, 2025.

When asked about Sree Vishnu being the first choice for the film, Janakiram said, "We thought about the story first. When we thought about who could play the hero, we felt Sree Vishnu sir would be the right choice. We immediately approached him. He listened to the story and agreed."

Sree Vishnu is known for his unique comedy timing and entertaining performances. Janakiram revealed that audiences can expect plenty of entertainment from him in Comrade Kalyan. "You have seen only around 10 percent of it in the teaser. Almost 90 percent of that entertainment is still there. We will reveal a little more in the trailer," he said.

Janakiram also spoke about his long journey in the film industry. He started working with director Samuthirakani in 2010. Later, he worked with Manoj Manchu and directors Bobby and Kishore Tirumala. He said that working with experienced directors taught him many important lessons.

"Patience is very important. It is not only important in the film industry, but in every field. If you have patience, many things will work out," Janakiram said.

He also gave special credit to Kona Venkat for supporting him during his journey. Janakiram said, "If I am speaking to you today as a director, there are two main reasons. One is Sree Vishnu sir and the other is Kona Venkat sir. Without them, I would not be here."

Janakiram said that Kona Venkat's experience and inputs helped him greatly during the making of the film. He described Kona Venkat as a master of screenplay and comedy.

The director also praised Sree Vishnu for making him comfortable on the sets. He said that there were many discussions with the actor before shooting. Sree Vishnu also helped him whenever he had difficulty expressing an idea.

Janakiram explained that his team gave him complete freedom as a debut director. He said, "There are no restrictions in my team. Everyone openly expresses what they feel. As a director, I have to listen and understand what they are saying."

He also shared his thoughts on becoming a director after years of working as an assistant. Janakiram believes that people should first prove themselves through their work.

"I never thought that I should stop everything and only try to become a director. We have to continue doing our work and prove ourselves. People will invest in us only when they know what we are capable of. To prove ourselves, we have to work," he explained.

Janakiram also praised producer Venkata Krishna Kittu for supporting the film without compromising on the story or quality. He said the producer was deeply involved in script discussions and always encouraged the team to make the film better.

The director further spoke about Bobby and Kishore Tirumala. "Bobby sir taught me how a commercial film should be made and how to handle people. Kishore Tirumala sir taught me about values and how different elements should be placed in a story," he said.

Janakiram confirmed that the title Comrade Kalyan was fixed from the beginning and there were no changes to it.

Finally, talking about the film's genre, he made it clear that the movie is primarily meant to entertain audiences. "There is no need for any big message. It is entertainment and love," he said.

Kayadu Lohar Romanticises the '80s in Gorgeous Vintage Look

Kayadu Lohar looks radiant in a dreamy photoshoot that perfectly channels vintage romance. Soft dark curls cascade around her face, complemented by a bindi and long pearl-drop earrings. She gently holds a single red rose near her chin while wearing a richly printed ensemble — a floral blouse with voluminous sleeves paired with a sheer navy drape featuring delicate floral motifs and sequin details.

Kayadu Lohar made her acting debut in the Kannada film Mugilpete (2021). She later appeared in the Malayalam period drama Pathonpatham Nootandu (2022) and Telugu film Alluri. Her breakthrough came with the Tamil hit Dragon (2025) opposite Pradeep Ranganathan.

In 2026 she has become one of South Indian cinema's busiest young stars, with films including Funky, Pallichattambi (with Tovino Thomas), Idhayam Murali, I'm Game (with Dulquer Salmaan), Immortal, The Paradise (opposite Nani), and the upcoming Suriya 48.

Manasa Varanasi comes on board for Sharwa-SV's George Krish!

Srinu Vaitla is directing the film after a gap and he is joining hands with Sharwa for the first time too. Now, the makers have officially announced that the beautiful Manasa Varanasi will be playing the female lead opposite him. This refreshing pairing has already generated a lot of excitement among movie enthusiasts, promising a vibrant on-screen chemistry.

The movie team is now ramping up the promotional activities and preparing a massive surprise for the fans. A highly anticipated first booster update is officially arriving on September 24th. This early promotional drop is expected to give audiences an exciting glimpse into the world of this out-and-out family entertainer.

Director Sreenu Vaitla is collaborating with the actor for the very first time, bringing his signature style and grand scale to the project. The combination is already making waves, as fans are eager to see how the director presents this fresh lead pair in a festive backdrop.

George Krish is gearing up for a grand theatrical release on 14th. Backed by Anil Sunkara, the film is poised to be a major Sankranti special.

Maya Lady Teaser Mixes Rom Com Chaos & Suspense Perfectly

After delivering meaningful films as a producer, Rakesh Varre is returning with another exciting entertainer through Maya Lady. Directed by Prasankar, Maya Lady stars Rakesh Varre, Madhumita Sarcar, Satya, Indraj, and Mysore Suresh. Presented by V D Jagan Mohan Rao and produced by Rakesh Varre under Crazy Ants Productions, the film releases in October 2026.

The teaser released today showcases a colorful, quirky, and emotional love story that has already generated positive reactions through its creative promotions and relatable concept. The story follows a young man with complete clarity about marriage and relationships. While everyone around him laughs at his expectations, destiny introduces him to a girl who is the exact opposite of everything he imagined.

Rakesh Varre looks stylish and convincing in a role packed with romance, comedy, and emotional confusion. Satya entertains with his trademark witty one-liners, while Madhumita Sarcar dominates the teaser with her crazy obsession after finding out about the hero's ex-girlfriend. Their chemistry looks fun, unpredictable, and entertaining.

The teaser beautifully captures Vizag's scenic locations with vibrant visuals and strong technical quality. Vishal Chandrasekhar's songs have already impressed audiences, while the background score perfectly complements the teaser's madness.
