Has Appealed To The Central Government To Honour Dr. Manmohan Singh - Telangana Chief Minister A. Revanth Reddy

Dayyala Rakesh Bhanu Direct Voice State Bureau Chief Hyderabad September 27 : Telangana Chief Minister A. Revanth Reddy has appealed to the Central Government to honour Dr. Manmohan Singh, the country's greatest statesman. Renowned economist and former Prime Minister, by conferring the country's highest civilian award, 'Bharat Ratna'. He demanded that Manmohan Singh, who led the country on the path of progress with liberalized economic policies, fulfilled the aspiration of a separate state and upheld the self-respect of the people of Telangana, be conferred with the Bharat Ratna and a suitable knowledge center be set up in his memory in the national capital Delhi. Chief Minister Revanth Reddy on Thursday unveiled the Dr. Manmohan Singh Memorial Park and his statue, built under the auspices of HMDA at Wipro Circle in the Hyderabad Financial District. Manmohan Singh should be awarded the Bharat Ratna Chief Minister Revanth Reddy appeals to the Central Government Demand to set up a memorial science center for former Prime Minister in Delhi Manmohan Singh statue, memorial park unveiled at Wipro Circle Gachibowli CM recalls his role in economic reforms and state formation "Revanth wants to convey Manmohan Singh's services to future generations Chief Minister Revanth Reddy has urged the central government to confer the country's highest civilian award, Bharat Ratna, on former Prime Minister Dr. Manmohan Singh. He has also requested that a suitable knowledge center be established in the national capital

Delhi in his memory. On the occasion of Manmohan Singh's birth anniversary, the Chief Minister unveiled his statue and memorial park set up by Wipro Circle HMDA in Hyderabad Financial District on Saturday. On this occasion, he recalled Manmohan Singh's economic reforms, services rendered as Prime Minister and his role in the formation of Telangana state. Manmohan Singh should be awarded the Bharat Ratna Revanth Reddy said that politics should not play a role in recognizing the services of Manmohan Singh. He wanted to honor him with the Bharat Ratna for his services to the country as an economist and statesman. He wanted to set up a knowledge center in his name in Delhi and make his ideas on economic policies and public welfare programs available to future generations. He suggested that Telangana MPs should raise these two issues in Parliament. From economic crisis to reforms, Revanth Reddy recalled that Manmohan Singh, as the Finance Minister introduced economic liberalization policies in 1991 under the leadership of the then Prime Minister PV Narasimha Rao when the country was facing a severe foreign exchange crisis. He stated that the policies of liberalization, privatization and globalization led to key changes in the country's economy. He mentioned the responsibilities carried out by Manmohan Singh as Economic Advisor, Reserve Bank Governor, Finance Minister and Prime Minister. He explained that economic reforms also contributed to the expansion of the information technology sector in Hyderabad, which is why his statue was installed in the financial district where international organizations are located. Key role in formation of Telangana The Chief Minister specifically mentioned the role played by Manmohan Singh in the process of forming a separate Telangana state. As a result of the long struggle and sacrifices of the people of Telangana, Sonia Gandhi and Manmohan He said that the then central government under the leadership of Singh had taken steps for the formation of a separate state. It was revealed that a replica of Manmohan Singh's signature on the Telangana formation bill was displayed in the memorial park. He said that this memorial was established to remind the people of the state of Manmohan Singh's role in the formation of Telangana. "Ensuring people with rights laws "Revanth Reddy mentioned the Right to In-

All decisions Unanimous "There are no differences between us - All key decisions are unanimous

Dayyala Rakesh Bhanu Direct Voice National Bureau Chief New Delhi September 27: Commissioners meet at Nirvaachan Sadan Clarification on differences of opinion on Sarp "Election Commission of India The news that has been circulating for the past few days regarding internal differences within the Central Election Commission has finally come to light. In the wake of media reports on the special comprehensive revision of voter lists and the internal affairs of the Commission, on Saturday a key development took place at the Dharavi Sadan in Delhi. Chief Election Commissioner Gyanesh Kumar, Election Commissioners Sukhbir Singh Sandhu and Vivek Joshi held a special meeting. After this meeting, the three of them, who were together, The Election Commission has issued a comprehensive statement along with the photo. The EC has clarified that all the orders related to the Sir carried out across the country have been issued with the unanimous approval of the three Election Commissioners. At the same time Congress demands resignation of Gyanesh Kumar "Key meeting of Indi coalition parties on September 30 Discussion on CEC Gyanesh Kumar's impeachment notice continues to draw criticism from opposition parties The opposition alliance is preparing for a crucial meeting amid reports in the national media about differences of opinion among the members of the Central Election Commission and the opposition's concerns over the special comprehensive revision of voter lists. In particular, the Congress party is demanding the immediate resignation of Chief Election Commissioner (CEC) Gyanesh Kumar. In this context, it seems that leaders of the opposition parties are likely to meet at the Constitutional Club in Delhi on September 30. Issues related to the Election Commission

their next action on the Sir process, the CEC in the The Election Commission has explained in the other two that the letters sent to the Cabinet Secretary by two Election Commission Commissioners Sandhu and Joshi were not a policy decision of the Poll Panel or the IT Department. It clarified that the letters were only related to the performance and allocation of duties of an officer working on deputation. The EC stated that the Commission had unanimously approved the orders issued on June 24, 2025 to conduct the Sar process in all the states and union territories of the country. It said that this process, which started in Bihar, has been extended to all the states and union territories including Bengal. The Election Commission revealed that the Supreme Court upheld these Sar orders on May 27, 2026. Similarly although the schedule was issued for 12 states and union territories on October 27, 2025 and for another 19 states and union territories on May 14, 2026, it said that all of them were done with the unanimous approval of the EC. Third The EC has revealed that the total number of voters will be clear only after the final voter list is received in the remaining 12 states and union territories. It has clarified that every person who has received notices that there are unmaped or other discrepancies in the voter details in the 'SIR' is not required to appear for personal inquiry with the Electoral Registration Officer. It has been stated that the booth level officers will personally go to the houses of the voters, collect the documents and upload them on the portal, and only in exceptional cases will there be an inquiry online or through their representative. The ECI has once again clarified that the Supreme Court has already upheld the provisions of the Sir Declaration related to Form-6, which is used to include names in the new voter list. In Form 6 The EC gave this clarification in the wake of the recent controversy over the changes. The EC said that different opinions and discussions in the commission are a natural process in a democratic system. At the same time, it made it clear that the agenda for the meetings of the Election Commission will also be sent to the members in advance. It also made it clear that all the instructions given by the Election Commissioners to the officials should be strictly implemented. 'In a three-tier system like the Election Commission, differences of opinion and different suggestions are part of the normal process. Every decision will be taken following the legal provisions and constitutional processes,' the Central Election Commission clarified. Meanwhile, a report published by The Indian Express has been at the center of these latest political developments. According to it, Election Commission Commissioners Sukhbir Singh Sandhu and Vivek Joshi have formally raised objections to the process related to the Election Commission's decisions on 14 occasions in the last 10 months. This includes issues like voter registration and deletion of names, the report said. With this, the opposition is demanding the resignation of the CEC. It is in this context that discussions are being held on impeachment notices. On the other hand, the Election Commission has given a different explanation for this report. The EC said that the questions and suggestions raised by the two commissioners are part of the normal process and should not be seen as differences in their decisions. The EC clarified that all decisions taken by the commission, including x were taken with unanimous approval of the three commissioners. Quoting sources, the national media said that there is a possibility of discussing the demand for removal in this meeting. Before that, the Congress Working Committee will meet on September 29 and finalize its future strategy. On the other hand, the opposition parties are already consulting each other on this issue. The Congress-led Indi alliance is already considering the possibility of introducing an impeachment motion against CEC Gyanesh Kumar. While discussing this and taking advice from legal experts, there are chances of introducing it in both the houses of Parliament (Rajya Sabha and Lok Sabha) in 1-2 weeks. Earlier this year, the opposition parties had introduced similar notices to remove CEC Gyanesh Kumar twice, but they were rejected. Now, they are trying to do the same again for the third time. On the other hand, the Election Commission

REALITY CHECK FOR PRIVATE UNIVERSITIES

Supreme Court's order seeking greater financial transparency from private universities was long overdue and brings renewed focus on regulation, student interests and accountability

The growing demand for higher education cannot be met by government-funded institutions alone. The private sector has an equally important role to play in expanding educational opportunities for the country's youth. However, unbridled commercialisation of the education sector by profit-driven private players is a major cause for concern. More often than not, they impose exorbitant fees that are not matched by infrastructure and amenities and resort to misleading self-promotion. While the contribution of the private sector to promoting and expanding higher education cannot be overlooked, what is needed is a proper balance between regulation and responsibility. The Supreme Court's latest order directing private universities across the country to disclose their financial records is a welcome development. The landmark order ruled that no private university should be allowed to run as a profit-making institution and sought details of how universities generate, manage and use their financial resources. The audited financial records covering the last five years, utilisation of funds, fee structures, surplus investments and payments made to persons not directly involved in educational functions are among the details that have to be presented before the apex court. It has also directed the Centre and State governments to collect detailed information about admissions, fees, use of surplus funds, staff recruitment and grievance-redressal systems of private universities and colleges. With this unprecedented order, the stage is set not only for intense scrutiny of the financial management by private universities but also the conduct of regulators. It's a reality check that was long overdue.

The top court's observation that private universities must serve the larger public purpose of education and not operate for profit hits the nail on the head. Robust regulatory oversight to check any exploitation of students is essential. Over the years, a highly competitive private sector has relied on exaggerations and half-truths to attract students. With minimal focus on impactful academic research, there is often misrepresentation of the facilities available and placement statistics. If the lack of faculty development is problematic, more worrying is the reliance on under-qualified and overworked staff. Ultimately, students bear the brunt as their interests are compromised. There are over 470 private universities in the country, apart from several 'Deemed to be Universities' that operate under private management. Within a span of 10 years, enrollment in private universities nearly tripled to over 34.6 lakh students, moving their market share from 20 per cent to one-third of all higher education students in India. The University Grants Commission (UGC) regulates private universities primarily through the UGC (Establishment of and Maintenance of Standards in Private Universities) Regulations to ensure educational quality and transparency. Unlike public universities, private entities receive minimal state or central research grants and have to depend heavily on tuition fees to fund research labs. Navigating overlapping compliance checklists between the UGC, AICTE, and state-level councils is a major challenge for private universities.

Youth Must Stay Away from Intoxicants“Awareness Needed Regarding the Adverse Effects of Addiction

District Collector Dr. Satya Sarada“

Ch Abhinay, Bureau Chief, Warangal September 27: District Collector Dr. Satya Sarada participated in a health and awareness program organized at MGM Hospital, Warangal, as part of the "Nasha Mukh Yuva – Vikasit Bharat" Drug-Free Youth Developed India campaign a 100-week initiative. District Medical and Health Officer Dr. Raji Reddy, MGM Superintendent Dr. Ram Kumar Reddy, NIT Warangal Professor Venkanna, and others also took part in the event. Speaking on the occasion, District Collector Dr. Satya Sarada advised the youth to stay away from intoxicants and adopt a healthy lifestyle. She emphasized the need to create widespread awareness among students and young people about the harmful effects of substance abuse. The Collector noted that everyone could cultivate good conduct alongside mental peace by practicing yoga and meditation daily. She warned that addiction gradually turns a person into a slave and urged everyone to remain vigilant against falling prey to it, stressing that individuals must take personal responsibility for themselves. MGM doctors, officials, medical students, and others participated in the program.

Hands That Hold Swords... Shaking Hands

Yamsani Srinivas Senior Journalist: “The world was surprised by the cordial meeting between the leaders of the US and China, who are always at loggerheads. What is the real reason behind the two superpowers, which have imposed tariffs, sanctions, and technological restrictions on each other, now joining hands? When Chinese President Xi Jinping arrived in the US on September 23, President Donald Trump personally went to Joint Base Andrews and welcomed him and Peng Liyuan. Later, a grand welcome ceremony and state dinner were held at the White House. The fact that Jinping came to the White House after more than a decade and became the first Chinese leader to make an official state visit to the US for the second time made this meeting special. However, it would be premature to assume that the differences have disappeared behind this intimacy. Differences between the two countries continue to exist on issues such as trade, rare earths, Taiwan, artificial intelligence, Iran, and Ukraine. The latest summit reached an understanding to extend the trade freeze by another two months. Also, issues such as examining favorable policies for tariffs on certain goods worth $30 billion, setting up a special board for investments, and discussions on the supply of rare earths came up. It was also decided to set up a mutual discussion mechanism on risks in the field of artificial intelligence. Meanwhile, China-Iran relations have been a topic of discussion for the meeting. According to an investigation by The Wall Street Journal, Iranian customs data indicate that up to June 2026, China has shipped about 1,300 shipments of dual-use equipment to Iranian defense companies that could be used for drones and missiles. The report said that the shipments included towing equipment, electric motors, electronic components, and aircraft engine components. The latest information also revealed that the United States has raised objections to Beijing on this issue. On the other hand, Xi Jinping has made it clear that dialogue is needed rather than confrontation, and controlled competition rather than competition. He said that the interests of the US and China are intertwined, and it is difficult to solve many problems in the world without cooperation between the two countries. Trump has also focused on stabilizing relations with China. However, the real measure of this relationship is the decisions that are implemented rather than the friendship that is seen in words. Because in world politics, there are no permanent friends or permanent enemies; there are only permanent interests. The recent US-China rapprochement is another example of that. It remains to be seen where issues such as trade interests, technological dominance, rare earths, the Iran crisis, and Taiwan will steer the relations between the two countries. Will this rapprochement be the beginning of a lasting friendship? Or is it just temporary diplomacy that is carried out according to needs? The answer will be found in the coming days.

Drug Addiction Is A Threat To Teenagers

National Bureau Chief New Delhi September 27 : CJI He said that they should not be seen as a bunch of garbage. He said that there is a need to identify the different circumstances that pushed them to that path. He suggested that rehabilitation measures should be taken to restore their childhood. On this occasion, the CJI mentioned a study published in the renowned journal Lancet Regional Health-Southeast Asia in August. He said that the study estimated that more than one in every five teenagers in the country is at risk of falling prey to drugs. He said that this problem is not limited to the teenage category. He said that the time has come to identify the needs of the youth and take appropriate precautions to prevent this. The CJI suggested that as much as it is important to provide statistics about children addicted to drugs, it is equally important to understand their suffering. He said that there are various reasons why someone becomes a victim. Bad friendships, improper “He said that children are becoming addicted to these bad habits due to various reasons such as lack of supervision, lack of shelter, harassment or growing up in an environment where drugs are present. Seeteja suggested that while the ways in which drugs are used are different, the approaches to solving them should also be different. He said that children who come to him with a problem should not be seen in the same perspective. He said that child protection should not end with just renewing. He emphasized the need to build a sustainable rehabilitation system after treatment and discharge. Justice Suryakant concluded that the law should respond very strictly and promptly to criminals who are supplying drugs and destroying the future of children for their own selfish interests. However, he said that the perspective of seeing child victims should change. He said that their safety, medical treatment, counseling and rehabilitation should be the main issues. He said that giving them back their childhood does not mean turning back the clock. The CGI said that the aim is to create a conducive environment where they can experience their childhood, education, good relationships, games, and faith in the future again. Those affected by drugs The CJI said that all aspects should be focused on identifying children and bringing them back to their previous state. He said that identification is very important in the initial stage. He said that it should start as early as possible. Family members, teachers, doctors and community workers should first observe the changes in the behavior of the child. Then the treatment is the issue. The CJ said that addiction does not end with just medical treatment. He said that it requires mental health support, a safe living environment, and continuous communication with the family and the child. Also, the CJ said that education is key. He said that even if a child is saved from a dangerous environment, if he is kept away from education, it will only push him into another danger. The CJI suggested that schools provide discipline and assurance for the future to children. The CJI believed that the assurance given by the family is very crucial in rehabilitation. If the family is the center of violence and neglect, then there is no benefit from education. “He said that no. Juvenile Justice Boards should be vigilant in this matter keeping the welfare of the child in mind. Justice Suryakant expressed concern that the most easily neglected stage in rehabilitation is post-treatment care. Bihar Governor Lieutenant General (Retd) Syed Ata Hasnain said that drug addiction needs to be seen not only from the perspective of p?? d?? as?? s but also from the perspective of 'national security'. He said that the defense of the country depends on the strength and resilience of the community. He expressed his concern that drugs directly damage the foundations of the community. He said that at one time in Punjab, while serving in the army, he personally saw the physical weakening of the youth due to drugs, and in a state with a military tradition, it was very painful. He said that the work does not end with treatment, and that those children should be brought back to society with dignity without any stigma.

Alumni Reunion: Reliving Childhood Memories

Duvva Venu, Reporter Kazipet September 27“Kazipet Government High School became the setting for an emotional reunion as former classmates, who had studied together in the same classroom four decades ago, gathered on a single platform. Alumni from the 1983–84 10th-grade batch cherished the opportunity to reminisce about their sweet childhood memories and relive the precious days of their student life. On Sunday, the alumni met in an atmosphere of warmth at an agricultural farm in Kadipikonda to recall those fond memories. Reuniting after nearly forty years, the classmates were overcome with emotion as they revisited experiences from the past. They shared many cherished memories, including moments spent with friends, games, cultural activities, and the school environment. They expressed that, no matter how high they have risen in life, their student days remain incredibly precious, and they fondly wished those times could return. They acknowledged that the school laid a strong foundation for their lives, noting that the values, discipline, and education imparted by their teachers served as guiding forces for their success. Friends, reuniting after many years, greeted each other warmly and reminisced about the past. They resolved to organize such alumni gatherings on a larger scale in the future and to maintain their connection with the school. This reunion proved once again that, despite the passage of time and life's many twists and turns, the bonds formed during their school days remain an indelible memory. Participants expressed their joy while recalling childhood friendships and cherished moments, observing that such gatherings not only strengthen old bonds but also serve as an inspiration for future generations. Exchanging warm greetings, they agreed that the experience was truly unforgettable.

One Should Have An Understanding Of The Right To Information Act. RTI Commissioner - P.V. Srinivasa Rao

Dayyala Rakesh Bhanu Direct Voice Bureau Chief September 27: RTI Commissioner P.V. Srinivas stated that the implementation of the Right to Information RTI Act fosters transparency in administration and accountability in expenditure. He attended a seminar held on Sunday at the Greater Press Club as the chief guest. The event was jointly organized by the Spandana Foundation, Abdul Kalam Foundation, and Anand Lahari organizations, and was presided over by Telangana activist and senior lawyer Gudimalla Ravikumar. Speaking at the event, P.V. Srinivas described the RTI Act as a powerful weapon in the hands of the common man. He advised that the Act should be utilized constructively rather than misused and affirmed that the Commission is striving for its effective implementation. He pointed out that while government offices are mandated to display a 'Citizen's Charter' under Section 4(1)(b) of the RTI Act, this requirement is not being properly implemented a fact that came to light during his surprise inspections. He mentioned that the Commission is conducting hearings expeditiously to resolve pending cases across the state. He further noted that he has already toured 26 districts to conduct awareness programs and held hearings for local cases at the respective Collectorates, issuing orders on the spot. He observed that, even now, many people in society remain unaware of whom to approach regarding their issues. It was noted that there are people who are in such a plight that they do not even know how to articulate their situation, and a call was made for intellectuals to stand in support of them. Participants in the event included Nerella Shobha, wife of renowned mimicry artist Dr. Nere Ila Venumadhav, retired professor Dr. Jyothirani, 'Vande Bharat' director

Mallam Ramesh, Hanumakonda District TGO President Srinivas Kumar, Gazetted Headmasters' Association President Kolluru Venkanna, Spandana Foundation organizer Maduri Srinivasa Rao, APJ Abdul Kalam Foundation founder Anand Devunuri, teacher-artist Anjan Kumar, and local prominent figures Nimmala Srinivas and Mandala Parashuramu, among others. Following the meeting, Commissioner P.V. Srinivas was felicitated in a grand manner.

Stand tall... Question Fight. Today September 28 marks the birth anniversary of Bhagat Singh

Direct Voice Bureau Chief Bhadradi September 27: A wake-up call to the youth silent endurance is a sign of lifelessness, whereas standing up and questioning is the very essence of Bhagat's ideology. Shake off your stupor and awaken, O youth of the new generation; is not confronting injustice the first lesson of revolution? Inquilab Zindabad! Inquilab Zindabad! You once struck terror into the hearts of the British rulers; today, you must be the inspiration that galvanizes a generation that has lost its way. You must awaken the youth power that is currently being led astray by the quagmire of addictions and the illusions of social media! Your brothers, despite holding degrees, are without jobs; crushed by the fangs of the monster of unemployment and stripped of hope, they are resorting to suicide. As heirs to the hero who embraced the hangman's noose, will you retreat in fear of problems? The truth you spoke back then remains alive today; though the colors of those in power change, the common person's lot remains the same. Sharpen your thoughts and hone your voice to pierce the darkness of anti-people policies and usher in the dawn of the right to livelihood. Let the book of knowledge be your weapon, and casting aside caste and religious divisions your primary duty. March forward constitutionally to secure your rights, and raise your voice to shake the very foundations of tyranny. That fiery spirit who sacrificed his life for the nation at the age of twenty-three remains an eternal guiding light for our struggles today. Let us cherish Bhagat Singh's ideals in our hearts and raise our voices for an egalitarian society free from inequalities.

New luster for rural areas through the development of tourism facilities: Deputy CM Bhatti Vikramarka Mallu Foundation stone laid for tourism infrastructure projects worth Rs 7.90 crore

Dayyala Rakesh Bhanu Direct Voice Bureau Chief, Khammam September 27 : The government is taking measures to develop infrastructure in rural areas; public representatives must oversee development works to ensure quality completion. "Welfare schemes such as fine-quality rice Sanna Biyyam Indiramma houses, and free electricity must be taken to the people. Initiatives for women's economic empowerment, including interest-free loans and free bus travel, are being implemented. Deputy CM lays foundation stones for various development works in Chintakani Mandal. Deputy CM Bhatti Vikramarka Mallu stated that the government is taking steps to bring a new look to rural areas through tourism facility development while also boosting local employment and economic opportunities. Accompanied by District Collector Diwakar T.S. and Police Commissioner Sunil Dutt, the Deputy CM laid foundation stones for several development projects in Chintakani Mandal, part of the Madhira constituency in Khammam district. These included tourism infrastructure work estimated at Rs 7.90 crore at the tank in Chintakani Mandal headquarters, and a road project connecting Pandillapalli to the Chintakani ZP road via Ananthasagar. The Deputy CM laid the foundation stones for several projects:

ts: a BT road estimated at ₹4 crore; a Panchayat Raj BT road from the Khammam-Bonakal R&B road via New Market to Matkepalli-Pandillapalli (estimated at ₹4.5 crore); internal CC roads in the Narasimhapuram SC Colony of Chintakani (estimated at ₹18 lakh); and a BT road in Nagulavancha village stretching from the village to the Railway Colony R&B road underpass estimated at ₹5 crore. Speaking on the occasion, Deputy CM Bhatti Vikramarka Mallu stated that the government is prioritizing the development of tourism facilities in rural areas. He noted that improving infrastructure in tourist spots not only creates a pleasant environment for the public but also boosts local employment opportunities. He mentioned that numerous development programs have been undertaken over the past 34 months to create infrastructure in villages and urged public representatives to supervise the works to ensure high-quality completion. He highlighted that the government is implementing various welfare schemes, including the free distribution of fine-quality rice, currently valued at over ₹60 per kilogram in the market to 1.06 crore families in the state, providing 6 kilograms per person. He noted that fine-grain rice is not being distributed through ration shops anywhere else in the country and urged that welfare initiatives such as 'Indiramma Houses' and 200 units of free electricity be effectively communicated to the public. He pointed out that people had been deceived in the past regarding housing schemes, whereas now, 'Indiramma Houses' are being sanctioned in every village, with ₹5 lakh being deposited directly into the beneficiaries' bank accounts. He revealed that 4.5 lakh 'Indiramma Houses' were sanctioned in the first phase, and another 2.5 lakh houses would be sanctioned in the second phase. He further mentioned that free electricity up to 200 units is being provided to the poorest families and free bus travel facilities are being extended to women, adding that interest-free loans have been introduced to economically empower women. It was stated that interest-free loans amounting to ₹20,000 crore are being provided to women annually, and that buses for the RTC and solar power plants are being set up through women's groups. SUDA Chairman Puvvalla Durgaprasad, State Warehousing Corporation Chairman Rayala Nageswara Rao, former MLA Kondabala Koteswara Rao, former MLCs Potla Nageswara Rao and Balasani Lakshminarayana, Mathkepalli Agricultural Market Committee Chairman Ambati Venkateswara Rao, PR SE Venkat Reddy, Electricity Department SE Srinivasa Chari, R&B SE Yugandhar Rao, CPO Srinivas, officials from various departments, public representatives, local leaders, and the public participated in these programs.

Local history states that the name Valgon da was derived from the geographical feature of the hilly area on the banks of Godavari The Trimatalaya, located on a hilllock on the banks of the Godavari, is a special attraction of this area. The architectural style, which reflects the art of the Dakuryas, gives this temple its importance. The architectural features similar to the Trikutalaya architectural style in the Raikal region are seen here. Historical The surrounding area of ??Lgonda is surrounded by rolling hills, the Godavari River and the natural beauty of the area. The chirping of birds and the rural atmosphere amidst the crop fields add to the beauty of the area. Nalgonda, which has both natural beauty and religious significance, needs to be further introduced on the tourist map.“Raikal and Metpally areas - for rural tourism The Raikal and Metepalli areas of Ravana Kala district have opportunities to introduce rural lifestyle, agricultural culture, and local food.Promoting rural tourism can create additional income streams for local people, create markets for locally produced food, handicrafts, and agricultural products, and provide employment opportunities for local youth in tourist attractions, transportation, and hospitality sectors.Godavari - A natural boon for Jagit yala tourism Godavari River is a great gift of nature to Jagtial district. The warm waters, hills, river flow, and rural scenery of the Godavari coastal areas attract tourists and are natural attractions. By connecting the Godavari catchment areas like 2000 Kotilingala, Lgonda, Champari, etc., eco-friendly tourism destinations can be developed. However, special precautions should be taken to avoid polluting the Godavari Sadivi and Sadi Para salas in the name of eco-tourism development.Cleanliness is the main responsibility in tourist areas Hygiene is key to preserving the beauty of tourist destinations and measures should be taken to prevent the accumulation of waste.“Every tourist should throw garbage in the designated places. Reduce to single use. Use reusable bottles and bags. Everyone should be responsible for not throwing garbage placards and puja paraphernalia in the Godavari River Tourism development to benefit locals If tourism develops, its benefits should be shared with the local people Employment opportunities should be increased for local youth Products made by women's groups should have a market. Local artists should be encouraged to participate. Encourage artisans. Showcase the uniqueness of the world by introducing tourists to local food s, folk arts, and rural lifestyles.“Could be more Environmental awareness should be developed among students.Students should be instilled with a sense of urgency about the preservation of tourist destinations from an early age. They should be taught the importance of local history, heritage structures, and natural resources.The history of the Kondagattu-Dharmapuri temples the ir spiritual significance, cultural significance, and the special features of Jagityala Fortt he history of the Satavahanas of Kotilingala, and the special features of the Valgonda standards are introduced to the students To be done. Hygiene and plant protection in tourist areas are based on many objectives.Don't damage nature in the name of development.“The tourism sector must develop. However, nature should not be damaged in the name of development. Tourist areas should be developed in a way that is necessary.I nfrastructure should be developed in accordance with local environmental conditions, rather than being filled with concrete structures. Hills, rivers, trees, birds, wildlife, the source of tourism, should be protected and developed.Let's show the world the tourism glory of Jagityala Dharmapuri, which stands as a symbol of Kondagattu spirituality, stands as a symbol of the spiritual splendor of the Godavari coast. Jagityala Fort stands as a symbol of historical heritage. Kotilingala reminds us of the ancient history of the Satavahanas. Valgonda is a symbol of the Trimatalaya construction culture of the Chalukyas and the Godavari coast. By effectively promoting this diversity and connecting tourist destinations with each other, more opportunities will be created for the tourism sector in Jagityala district. At the same time, tourism will benefit the locals.Responsible tourism is the way of the future“A great opportunity to learn, understand and enjoy the culture. A challenge to understand the situation If you go to Kondagattu, you should protect the cleanliness of the hills. If you go to Dharmapuri, you should not mix the Godavari. If you visit Jagityala Fort, you should respect the historical structure.Bali is a place that preserves archaeological remains that are worth visiting. If you visit Valgonda, you will be amazed by the beauty of the temple as well as the natural beauty.If you visit rural areas, you should respect the way of life of the local people.“We have come to appreciate nature.. but we should not destroy nature. Let us learn about history. But we should not damage the monuments. Let us learn about the local culture... but we should not destroy the feelings of the locals.There is a need to introduce the Jagityala tourism industry to the world, and to provide employment to the locals who need to preserve it for future generations. Tourism should protect nature. Action should protect history "Protecting the environment and preserving the ecological balance is a responsibility of all of us. It is our responsibility to provide the millennial, historical and cultural heritage of our Jagitala district to the generations. Let us show the world the glory of the Jagitwala district and promote responsible tourism that is in harmony with nature."

Such Recklessness Towards Public Money! No Punishment Merugu Rajaiah

The 16th Lok Sabha elections were held from 7 to 12 April 2014. The results, announced on 16 May, showed the BJP winning 282 seats NDA National Democratic Alliance. The government came to power with 336 MPs as its leader. In the manifesto for this Lok Sabha election, the BJP made 125 promises. On the 10th, it promised to identify black money stashed abroad, bring back 80 lakh crores of black money within 100 days and deposit Rs. 15 lakhs in the bank account of every Indian. Narendra Modi also promised the people during the election campaign. Even though the BJP has been in power for the last 12 years, the domestic black money stashed abroad has not come back. Moreover, some of the heads of corporate companies that had borrowed from domestic banks have fled abroad. The National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) was set up to resolve disputes between companies and individuals who had borrowed thousands of crores of rupees from banks and failed to repay them. The Ministry of Corporate Affairs has brought the SCST 2016 and the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code (IBC) 2016 under Section 408 of the Companies Act 2013. These will resolve disputes and financial insolvency processes of companies. Thus, the availability of credit in banks and the lending banks should be given a boost. It should help in reducing NCA (Non-Performing Assets) in banks, balancing the rights of lenders and shareholders and preventing frauds and abuses. But recently, the 'Zee Group' head Dr. Subhash Chandra NCL bankruptcy case, which went viral in the media, has become a topic of discussion. He was a Rajya Sabha member from 2016 to 2022. He was elected from the state of Haryana with the support of BJP. According to the information released by the lenders, Subhash Chandra's net assets were shown to be approximately Rs. 45,888 crore in 2017 and Rs. 40,562 crore in 2018, but there are many doubts about the current showing of only Rs. 31.79 crore. Instead of the Rs. 22,006 crore claims he accepted in the personal bankruptcy case, he was allowed to settle by paying only Rs. 6.25 crore under the National Companies Act. The Tribunal (NCLT) has announced a loan repayment plan. On it, lenders like Elcy Housing Finance, IDBI, HFC, Axis Bank, Canara Bank, and Union Bank of India have sought a deeper look into Subhash Chandra's assets. Almost all people have faith in banks. The 'India Inclusive Finance Report 2025' released by the Reserve Bank of India states that 91 percent of Indians have bank accounts. But only 63 percent of the account holders are making transactions. The World Bank has also highlighted that bank account ownership in India has reached 89 percent in the Global Index 2025. What are banks really doing for the people? The peopleThe money saved (hidden) is returned to the lender (those whoThey are giving interest on savings accounts (loans). They are paying interest of 2.50 percent to 8.50 percent to people who have saved. They are charging interest of 9.98 percent to 24 percent from those who have taken loans, 10.60 percent to 16.50 percent, 9 percent to 27 percent on factory loans and non-banking financial companies are charging interest of 55 percent to 30 percent. Banks also earn profits by charging account maintenance charges, ATM (Automatic Teller Machine) overdraft charges, cheque bounce charges, cheque book charges, loan processing, NIST (National Electronic Fund Transfer), RTGS (Real Time Gross Settlement) cash transfer charges, SMS (Short Message Service) phone message information, demand draft, locker rent, overdraft, early account closure charges, interest on housing vehicles, gold loans, gold jewellery valuation charges, etc. from the account holders (people). However, banks are a part of people's daily lives. Just as financial relations are becoming stronger than human relations in society, so too are financial relations with banks. Narendra Modi as There are about 12 public sector banks. There are 60,646 branch banks across the country. They have been making profits since the nationalization of banks on July 19, 1969. In the past fiscal year 2025-2028, the operating profit was 3.21 lakh crores, while the net profit was 1.98 lakh crores (US $ 22.59 billion). Total deposits reached 166.3 lakh crores. It would have been better if the profits earned from people's savings, deposits, interest on various loans, and charges on services (investment) had been spent on creating more wealth. If priority sectors such as agriculture, handicrafts, and small and medium industries had been provided with easy credit facilities, development along with employment opportunities would have been possible. But corporate powers, Due to the laws and policies made by the bureaucracy (government machinery) and political forces, the money of the banks is being "fed to the hawks by beating the crows". On March 14, 2018, Minister of State for External Affairs M.J. Akbar told the Lok Sabha that 31 business men who had taken bank loans had fled abroad. Th. Limited On 25 July 2018, Minister of State for External Affairs General (Retd) Vijay Kumar Singh informed the Lok Sabha of the names of economic offenders who are absconding abroad. On 4 January 2019, Minister of State for Finance Shiv Pratap Shukla informed the Lok Sabha of the names of 27 loan defaulters who have fled the country. In February 2020, Minister of State for Finance Shiv Pratap Shukla informed the Lok Sabha that efforts are being made to bring back 72 people who are absconding abroad. The details of the total amount of loans owed by those absconding abroad and the number of people are not known. There is no clarity. Only 12 absconding borrowers have been identified with loans worth Rs. 35,587.19 crore. For the last 8 years, efforts have been made to bring back the absconding loan defaulters through Look Out Circular (LTC), Red Corner Notice (RCN), CBI Central Bureau of Investigation), ED (Enforcement Directorate Thousands of crores of loans taken from banks How is it possible to legally give a name to a person? The most difficult question for people is how to do it. Generally, banks do not give loans without collateral or guarantee. Gold loans are given at a rate of 70 to 86 percent of the market value of the gold pledged. Personal loans are given at a rate of 50 to 70 percent of the market value by pledging a house or property. Similarly, loans are given only to those who draw their salary through their bank, both the employee and the employee who gives the guarantee. Farmers are also given loans by pledging their pattadar passbooks. But how are they giving loans worth thousands of crores to corporate companies and big industrialists without any collateral or guarantee? People are questioning how loans given in the name of bad debts, non-performing assets, National Company Law Tribunal, Insolvency and Bank Robbery Code 2016 are being waived. On August 8, 2024, Aam Aadmi Rajya Sabha MP Sanjay Singh spoke in Parliament on the Finance Bill. He exposed the 'haircut scheme' brought by the BJP government. He said that only 43 companies had to pay bank loans of Rs. 5,44,434 crore, of which only Rs. 1,90,779 were waived and Rs. 3,63,655 crore was waived. He also mentioned the names of some companies in it. (In Box-Alok Industries Limited loan Payment figures in crores of rupees waiver MP Sanjay Singh told Parliament that he was ready to verify this information taken from government sources. He also said that when the government is asked to provide education, health, loan waiver for farmers and reduce inflation of the people, it says that there is no money, but there is money to waive off loans of investors. He also expressed concern that while Rs. 70,000 crore loans were waived off during the Congress regime, the BJP has waived off only Rs. 3,63,655 crore to 43 companies. Pune-based 'Sajag Nagarik Manch' president Vivek Velankar filed a Right to Information Act. In a 2006 application, the State Bank of India (SBI) sought disclosure of names of defaulters between the financial years 2016-2017 and 2025-2026. The bank said that it was exempted from disclosing names under sections 8(1)(d), 8(1)(e) and 8(1)(j) of the Act, 2005, on the ground that the information was confidential and personal information of third parties. (Box SBI took 309 loan accounts to NCST and other forums, but was able to collect only Rs 19,727 crore through resolution plan against claims of Rs 1,49,896 crore. It also wrote off Rs 100,166 crore as non-performing assets. The government neglects to control the defaulters of banks. Lakhs of crores of rupees are earned annually from the savings deposits of the people in banks, the interest charged on loans, and the charges charged on bank services. By investing the profits of banks, instead of spending them to create more wealth, it indirectly contributes to the defaulters of big investment institutions. Moreover, now the BJP-NDA coalition government is preparing to collect money transfer fees. UPI payments through NCSP under the control of the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) have been going smoothly since November 2016. An average of about Rs. 7,500 transactions are being made per transaction. UPI has emerged as the largest real-time payment system in the world. It processes over 640 million transactions every day. Now, efforts are underway to charge charges on UPI payments as well. This has caused concern among people who are used to cash transfers. There are already various types of banks National Company Law Tribunal NCLT the year Collection of written off loans figures in crores of rupees People want the lakhs of crores of rupees of profits collected from interest charged on loans, charges charged on bank services, and people's savings deposits to be diverted from the hands of loan defaulters and spent on the development of production and productive sectors, thereby contributing to social development and national development.

US President Donald Trump has issued a 'Code 100' ultimatum to end the war. It has also imposed 7 conditions for resuming talks. Washington has conveyed its conditions through Qatari mediators. Iran has made it clear. Tehran has declared that it is ready for war if the US does not accept its conditions. Mohsen Rezaei, secretary of Iran's Supreme National Security Council, said the conditions. "We are in the last 5 days of Qatar's negotiations Qatar has conveyed to Washington our conditions for ending the war. "Now we are waiting for US President Trump's response," he said. Rezaei, making his position clear on social media platform X, warned that Tehran was not afraid of Trump's threats and that accepting these conditions was in Washington's interests. In view of the seriousness of the situation, Iran has issued the highest level of alert, 'Code 100', to all its armed forces, including the IRGC, army and security forces. Alarmed by this development, US President Trump cut short his weekend vacation at Camp David and is returning to the White House. Similarly, Israeli Prime Minister Netanyahu has also left for home after ending his US visit halfway. All US embassies in the Middle East have already issued security alerts. Iranian military

'Kaaka' moves into dubbing, post-production gathers pace

Chiranjeevi's upcoming action entertainer 'Kaaka', directed by Bobby Kolli, has begun dubbing following a traditional pooja. Produced by KVN Productions, the film also stars Anaswara Rajan and Nivetha Pethuraj and is being planned for a Sankranti 2027 release

Hyderabad: The cast of director Bobby Kolli's eagerly awaited action entertainer 'Kaaka', featuring Megastar Chiranjeevi in the lead, has begun dubbing for the film, according to industry sources.

Sources close to the film's unit said the cast began dubbing after a traditional pooja. Other post-production activities are also being carried out simultaneously, they added.

It may be recalled that Chiranjeevi recently disclosed the name of the character he plays in the film. During a speech at a recent event, the Megastar revealed that he would be playing a character called Kadiri Kalidas.

Sources close to the unit said that while 'Kaaka' has been envisioned as a high-intensity action entertainer, it will also feature a strong emotional and family-oriented narrative, making the protagonist's character arc one of its key attractions.

The unit began its most recent schedule on September 7.

KVN Productions, which is producing the film, announced the title a few days ago through a title teaser and revealed that the film would hit screens on January 13, 2027.

Taking to social media to share the title teaser, the production house wrote, "Meet Supervisor Satyam, C/O Ammaji Aqua Industries, Ravulapalem. Team #KAAKA wishes the one and only Megastar @Kchirutweets garu a very HAPPY BIRTHDAY. Title glimpse out now. January 13, 2027 – Sankranthi release."

The title teaser showed Chiranjeevi working at a shrimp farm called Ammaji Aqua Industries. His character is named Satyam and he works as a supervisor at the facility, where people from different regions of the country are employed.

The teaser showed an employee attempting to return a key to Chiranjeevi but dropping it into a pool full of shrimps. Chiranjeevi then retrieved the key using a giant electromagnet. Along with the key, several weapons also emerged from the pool. The key had a keychain that read, 'I love dad'.

The film has generated considerable interest among fans and film buffs since it was first announced, while the title teaser has added to the excitement.

Sources close to the unit said the first half of the film ends with a spectacular action sequence. They claimed that the interval fight sequence, which was shot recently, is set to be one of the major attractions of the film. The action block has been designed and executed on a grand scale and is expected to provide a powerful high point before the second half.

Sources also claimed that the initial output has given the team immense confidence, with the narrative maintaining a mix of intensity, entertainment, emotion and action.

Anaswara Rajan and Nivetha Pethuraj play pivotal roles in the film, which is being planned as a Sankranti 2027 release. With the shoot progressing smoothly and the first-half edit nearing completion, the production is moving towards the next phase.

This is the second time director Bobby has worked with Chiranjeevi. The two previously collaborated on the action entertainer 'Waltair Veerayya'.

Sanjay Reminds Me of His Father Vijay, Says Chiranjeevi

Megastar Chiranjeevi attended the grand pre-release event of Sigma in Hyderabad as the chief guest and extended his support to debutant director Jason Sanjay, son of Tamil actor-turned-politician Vijay.

Recalling his first meeting with Sanjay, Chiranjeevi said the youngster reminded him of his father. "When he came to meet me, he reminded me of his father Vijay during 1993-94," Chiranjeevi said. He also asked Sanjay whether he was more interested in acting or direction. "He said he was very much interested in writing and direction," the megastar recalled.

Chiranjeevi also spoke about Sanjay's family legacy in cinema. He pointed out that the youngster is carrying forward the creative legacy of his grandfather, S S Chandrasekar, who directed films such as Chattatniki Kallu Levu and Devantakudu, and his grandmother Shoba, who was involved in screenwriting.

"S S Chandrasekar was a very good director, while his wife Shoba garu penned scripts. Sanjay is taking forward the skills of his grandparents. He has inherited those genes and has turned director," Chiranjeevi said.

The megastar further recalled Vijay's journey in cinema and expressed his wishes for Sanjay's directorial career. "I have seen his father Vijay rise to meteoric heights as an actor, and I wish Sanjay also achieves his goals as a director. I think his debut film Sigma will pave the way for his dreams," he added.

Jason Sanjay, meanwhile, said that his father is excited to watch the film but has chosen not to participate in its promotional campaign due to his responsibilities as Tamil Nadu Chief Minister. Sanjay said he wanted the promotions to remain focused on the film and its team rather than on his father.
