

Plan to shoot down the plane in July.. Sensational details of the accused in the Flydubai incident

Direct Voice National Bureau Chief New Delhi October 5 : A premeditated conspiracy hidden in the cockpit to turn a peaceful journey at 30,000 feet into a death trap has been revealed. The co-pilot's brutal plan to terrorize Tel Aviv with the courage of the captain who bravely saved the lives of 174 passengers has been revealed. The latest sensational facts have come to light in the investigation of this pilot. Investigators have brought to light sensational facts about the horrific cockpit attack that took place on a Flydubai flight from Dubai to Tel Aviv. Israeli media sources said that co-pilot Hamam al-Hammami, who attacked Captain Smith Machar in the cockpit on September 30, was not a sudden idea. It was a premeditated plan that had been in place for months. While the plane was in the sky, Hamam mi suddenly attacked the captain with an axe. The attack caused the plane to lose control in an instant and fall almost 14,000 feet in just 30 seconds. However, the seriously injured Captain Smith Machar bravely opened the cockpit doors. Passengers and flight crew immediately entered the cockpit and arrested the suspect. Later, another pilot on board the plane took control and made an emergency landing at Tabuk Airport in Saudi Arabia. Landing. With this, 174 passengers on board the plane escaped safely. Ben Gurion Airport target? The initial investigation by the investigative agencies revealed that the suspect's plans were extremely serious. After killing the captain and gaining full control of the plane, he planned to take landing clearance at Ben Gurion

International Airport in Israel. It seems that he then plotted to crash the plane into the airport building or another plane parked there, causing heavy casualties. The plan was to be carried out in July itself. The suspect also tried to carry out a similar attack in July itself. However, investigative sources revealed that he called off the attack at the last minute because there was a crew member close to him on the plane at that time. It seems that he thought that by attacking after entering Jordanian airspace, he would get enough time to implement his plan. Terrorist angle.. Security review Hammami was previously banned from flying for security reasons while working for Oman Airlines. He studied at RMIT University in Melbourne and is being investigated by counter-terrorism officials for his links to other parts of Australia. Although it is currently suspected to be an isolated attack, all angles are being investigated. With this incident, Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu has ordered a comprehensive review of security regulations for foreign civil aviation. A new debate has begun in the global aviation sector on how people with security warnings were able to reach the cockpit.

India Takes Key Step Towards Ending Russia-Ukraine War

Nathari Venkatesh National Bureau Chief New Delhi October 5: Ukrainian Foreign Minister Andriy Sibiha said that they had received four proposals. He said that India's proposal was the most comprehensive among the proposals from India, the US, Turkey and Egypt. What is in India's proposal? India has not fully disclosed the details of the proposal. However, according to Ukraine, it includes issues related to the energy sector as well as a ceasefire in the Black Sea. A cessation of attacks on energy facilities and ports is also a key issue. This is likely to be useful for the smooth operation of shipping and transportation of agricultural products in the Black Sea. Four propositions Four diplomatic proposals are currently under discussion for a Russia Ukraine ceasefire. Turkey and Egypt have proposed a truce that would allow the transport of grain and agricultural products across the Black Sea. The US has focused on stopping attacks on energy infrastructure. India's proposal, however, looks at the energy sector and the Black Sea together. What is Ukraine saying? Ukraine wants the ceasefire to include both the energy sector and the Black Sea. Attacks on all energy infrastructure, including good ideas for a solution, should be completely stopped. Sibiha Put in said that Modi made it clear that it wants the problem to be resolved peacefully and quickly. What is the challenge ahead? While Ukraine has responded positively to India's proposal, Russia's acceptance is also crucial for the implementation of the ceasefire. Discussions are currently ongoing on four proposals. Which of them will be implemented will depend on the upcoming diplomatic talks. He said that Modi has Direct Voice State Bureau Chief Warangal October 5: A representation was submitted to the District Collector by affected individuals, urging the government to provide housing and extend the benefits of government schemes to them. Chunchu Rajender, State Vice-President of the Dalit Bahujan Front DBF accompanied by members of the Jogini community, submitted the memorandum to Hanamkonda District Collector Chahat Bajpai. He highlighted the plight of Joginis, Basivinis, and Matangi Shiva Sathulus women living in both rural and urban areas who continue to face abject conditions in the name of deity worship, with no improvement in their lives despite changes in government. He demanded that the Telangana Congress party support them by providing a monthly pension of ₹5,000, sanctioning 'Indiramma' houses for their families, and ensuring that government schemes administered by district-level corporations are extended to SC and BC communities. Speaking on the occasion, Rajender noted that even after 78 years of independence and 76 years under the Indian Constitution, the lives of the poor remain unchanged. He criticized the previous BRS government for neglecting the Jogini community and urged the Congress party, which champions the cause of the poor, to step in and provide the requested ₹5,000 monthly pension to uplift them. They demanded that 'Indiramma' houses be sanctioned for Joginis and that government welfare schemes be extended to them. Participants in the event included Mala Mahanadu District President Ankeswarapu Ramchander

Rao, DBF District Secretary Bouthu Radha, District Vice President Chunchu Nares, and district leaders Durgam Pushpalatha, Chunchu Bharat, Gundelli Somalakshmi, Sripathi Radhika, Bouthu Bhagya, and Adepu Rama, among others.

In Indian Democracy, it is More Important than Winning Elections

The allegation is untenable. The Indian Express reported that over 13 crore names in 30 states and union territories have been removed from the draft lists in the Special Comprehensive Voter List (SVR). At the same time, questions have also been raised about the inclusion of a new question in Form-6 for new voters asking whether the names of parents or grandparents were in the previous SVR list. Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge, Rahul Gandhi and others have termed these developments as a threat to democracy. Problems such as income inequality and malnutrition also persist. Unemployment is being recorded in many states, including Telangana, in the 2025-26 Periodic Labor Force Survey; providing stable, quality jobs to the youth remains a major challenge. There is no room for complacency even when it comes to human development. According to the United Nations Development Programme, India is ranked 130th out of 193 countries in the 2025 Human Development Report. In the Global Hunger Index, India is ranked 130th out of 193 countries in 2025. That is now becoming the big question. Recent internal information has further strengthened the doubts raised by opposition parties, including the Congress, about the credibility of the Election Commission. According to an investigation by The Indian Express, Election Commissioners Sukhbir Singh Sandhu and Vivek Joshi have on record raised objections to the decisions taken by Chief Election Commissioner Gyanesh Kumar at least 14 times in the last ten months. The investigation revealed that they raised questions on issues like registration of new voters, deletion and restoration of names, centralisation of voter database and software. This is just politics done by Congress. Rahul Gandhi has made serious allegations about the election process, calling it "vote theft". But one thing must be made clear: There is no final legal confirmation yet on the allegation that the BJP won the election with stolen votes. But the Election Commission is responsible for providing transparent answers to questions raised on the deletion of voter names, data management and internal conflicts within the commission. The question does not stop with the Election Commission. The government's claim that the Indian economy has grown rapidly since the Modi government came to power in 2014 is accompanied by unemployment. India ranks 102nd out of 123 countries, with child stunting at 32.9 percent and child wasting at 18.7 percent. International organizations also remain concerned about media freedom. Reporters Without Borders ranked India 157th out of 180 countries in its 2026 World Press Freedom Index. It cited issues such as concentration of media ownership, political affiliations, and pressure on journalists. So the real problem is Modi's personal one. Not prestige: The prestige of India's democratic institutions, and the growing suspicion of the Indian electoral system at home and abroad, is at stake. To restore confidence in the Election Commission, it must be made public why every voter's name was removed, who added it, who controls the data, and how decisions were made in which meetings. An independent judicial inquiry should be held, if necessary. Ultimately, the people's verdict is supreme. If the people's vote remains in doubt, the success of any government cannot be entirely democratic.

Jagan's Image is Okaybut the Leaders are

Yamsani Srinivas Senior Journalist

Organizational strength is very important for any political party. How can it belt means leaders who work at the field level. Also, the most important thing for the party is the workers. The party should be structured in such a step-by-step manner. If all the policies and decisions from top to bottom are to be implemented properly, the role of the leaders is important. In a way, the leaders are the key bridge between the cadre and the chief. All this should be a beautiful chain. If any chain is broken or the gap increases, it will be a problem. When it comes to YCP, Jagan is immensely popular as the head of that party. At the same time, his fans, YSR fans, and those who came from the Congress party are all strong as workers for YCP. However, the workers are special. But the chief and them also need leaders as a link. If you look at YCP, they say that the policy of workers' strength is enough. If any leader is not okay, they are easily let go. A leader rises to the level of MLA and works among the people for five years. In this way, he will be able to influence the entire constituency. When such a leader leaves the party, it is natural that many second- and third-tier leaders leave with him. Also, it is a bit of a struggle to fill his place. On the surface, they say that it is okay if the leaders leave, we have workers. But making a constituency-level leader and making him please the people is a big challenge. In this regard, it is said that the YSRCP is going in a different direction. It is natural for there to be disagreements and dissatisfaction in any political party. If someone is a little distant from them, there are attempts to appease them. An exercise is done behind the scenes to please them and bring them to their way. There is also a strong mechanism for that. In the case of the YSRCP, it is said that the attitude of those who go, let them go is more visible. It is true that those who do not want to be held back. But there may not be strong opposition at all times. Somewhere from disagreement, it turns into dissatisfaction. From there, it gradually grows stronger and becomes disagreement. After that, it becomes stable with opposition. Only after going through various stages does someone want to leave the party. Therefore, if they are called and brought together at the first stage, that is, during the turmoil, the matter will not escalate and become a big one. For this reason, a trouble shooter system is set up in the parties. No leader thinks of leaving the party he is in so easily. Leaving aside the opportuists, those who have been in the party for a long time and have traveled a long time do not take the risk of moving to another party and examining their political horoscope there. They are only pushed to do so if there are unavoidable circumstances. And they say that there should be a review of whether there is such an environment in the YSRCP. In the recent past, all the constituency-level leaders are leaving the party one after another. If the biggest weapon for this is the operation of the rival parties, then it is said that this is happening because the gap in the existing party has widened at some stage. Everyone says that leaders can be made, but it's not that easy, and it's not that easy to keep leaders, but there is a connection between the two. They say that if caught, the threat of migration would be greatly reduced.

No Mercy For The Mother

Dayyala Rakesh Bhanu Direct Voice Bureau Chief Warangal October 5 "Hell for a bedridden mother due to paralysis.. Daughters harassing her for property! Land registration with false words.. Elderly woman's anguish in Collectorate's 'Prajavani' There was no mercy for the daughters. The daughters who were supposed to support them in their old age were forced to put their mother on the street for property. An old woman who was paralyzed and could not move appealed to the Collector through the 'Prajavani' platform of the Hanumakonda District Collectorate about the injustice done to her Chandrayya, husband of Kosiri Kalavathi (63) of Nagaram village, Parakala mandal, Hanamakonda district, died on August 14, 2019. While her husband was alive, the distribution in cash and gold was completed in the presence of elders under the share due to the three daughters (Megha Nirmala, Kashi Lakshmi, and Digavala Aruna). Later, the remaining survey number 343/B, 335/D ? 4.23 ? . It was decided to hand over the debts to his son Yugandhar. However, on the day of her husband Chandrayya's death (August 14, 2019), when he was in a state of mental illness, Kalavathi alleged that she had taken her younger daughter, Aruna, to the hospital on the pretext of taking her to the hospital and secretly registered 1.20 acres of land with the evidence of unknown persons. She said that when this matter came to light two years later, she approached the court seeking cancellation of the registration. An elderly woman in financial difficulties. While the court cases were going on, his daughters filed a civil case for the rights to the remaining land and obtained a pattadar pass book with false details. He expressed his regret mediately cancelled and the remaining 3.03 guntas of land be mutated in his name and a pass book be issued. He requested the District Collector to provide him with a living allowance under the Senior Citizen Maintenance Act and take legal action against his daughters who are harassing him.

Congress In Trouble With Another allyience

Dayyala Rakesh Bhanu Direct Voice Warangal October 5 : Congress was once a strong national party. Political analysts say this correctly. Going forward, it is also called the Grand Old Party. That is, the word for past glory. In the present, Congress is nowhere near enough. Today, Congress is in power in four states on its own. In a way, if BJP is branded as a northern party, Congress has become a southern party. All that party's power is in the south. But we have to look for it where it lost. That is why Congress wants the political glory of four decades ago in UP. In 2024, Congress won six MP seats in alliance with its ally Samajwadi Party. That hope of victory is increasing even more by the time of the assembly elections. That is why there are reports that Congress is seeking 150 assembly seats. In the UP assembly elections held in 2022, Congress got only two seats. SP is saying that it will make seat allocations in the 2027 elections using those seats as a yardstick. However, Congress is demanding that they be given one-third of the total 400-plus UP Assembly seats, i.e. up to 150. It is also saying that their support has increased significantly among the people. On this, SP MP Shivapal Singh has recently satirized the Congress. His hot comments that giving 50 seats to the Congress is actually more are igniting the fire among Congress leaders. He is also questioning where the Congress is getting its strength in UP. He also says that an alliance with SP will benefit the Congress. However, UP Congress leaders are grumbling that SP is looking down on them. UP Congress in-charge Rajendra Pal Gautam, however, talking about seat adjustment, said that in fact, half of the seats in UP, which has 403 seats, should be given to them. However, they say that they have reduced it to 150. Congress leaders are also making it clear that there will be no reduction in these seats under any circumstances. However, the SP says that if the Congress does not think realistically about the alliances and come forward, the intentions of the alliances will be damaged. They say that talks will be held between the two parties on seat adjustment in October itself. They say that the ally SP is getting angry with the Congress's seat problem in UP. That is why they remind us that they sent their party leaders when SP chief Akhilesh Yadav did not attend the recent India Alliance meeting held in Delhi. They are mentioning the Delhi elections saying that the allies are distancing themselves because the Congress did not act properly in the context of the assembly elections in various states. Now, they say that if the Congress is torn apart in UP too, the loss to the Congress will be greater than what the SP has lost. However, the Congress version is different. They say that they are strong as a national party and have gained momentum in UP. They say that if they do not win at least 150 MP seats in the next elections, the Prime Minister's chair will not be given to the Congress. That is why they say that Congress is looking to increase its strength in UP.

Are the VC's orders worthless?

VC at Kakatiya University

Ch. Abhinay Bureau Chief Warangal October 5: Orders are being ignored. It is known that the authorities, who had given four notices in a year to the contract lecturer of the Telugu department who was found to have illegally obtained a post-doctoral fellowship, finally issued suspension orders on the 1st of this month. These orders were received by the Principal of Subedari Arts and Science College where he works on Saturday, the 3rd. It is known that Shankaraiah, who knew about the orders in advance, had taken leave from going to the college that day. As a result, he was not in a position to issue suspension orders, so the principal of the college sent suspension orders to Shankaraiah through WhatsApp on the same day afternoon. Accordingly, it is considered that he has received the orders. But there is criticism that there is no mention of suspension against the name of Manthani Shankaraiah in the attendance register of contract lecturers of the Arts and Science College. It is learnt that in this context, a former VC's follower and contract lecturer leader entered the fray as a middleman and entered into negotiations with a senior university official and a NAS teaching employee. It is learnt that they have promised to protect Shankaraiah if he pays the full amount and treats them 'normally'. With this, there is a campaign going on that the money was paid on the clouds. It is learnt that if everything is set, there is a possibility that the suspension orders will be revoked by the evening is all this happening with the VC's knowledge? "Although VC Pratap Reddy was adamant from the beginning about taking action against Shankaraiah, the university it was also learned that another VA teaching employee, who was in charge of the main task, was interrupted on every 5 occasions. It is reported that the delay in action was due to the negligent agreement of the said individuals with Shankaraiah. There have been suspicions about the silence of VC Pratap Reddy even though this matter was brought to his attention. In this context, the UBC has been receiving complaints, the university has been receiving orders and reminders from the UGC, and the newspapers are publishing negative articles, and it is being spread that they have taken action against Shankaraiah under necessary circumstances. However, after the latest suspension orders were issued.. a senior official Kakatiya University There is a debate as to whether the VC is in the notice to try to stop them again, and to try to cancel the suspension orders on the pretext of paying money. There is criticism that the professor is moving his pawns to protect the moralists without the VC's knowledge. It is illegal to pay money. Will it be okay? "The declaration given while getting a postdoctoral fellowship states that if the rules are violated, one will be liable for legal action. But Kakatiya University and UGC are being criticized for not registering a cheating case against the person who cheated. If we leave it like this, let's do scams first. Let's see if someone complains in the future. Students and student union leaders are warning that there is a possibility of committing such irregularities with public money. University official attempts to revoke Shankaraiah's suspension Negotiations began with former VC's aide, contract lecturer leader acting as mediator Attempt to defend by claiming that he has paid back the illegally drawn fellowship money if you pay money, it's illegal.. will it become legal? Shouldn't a case be filed against the person who cheated the UGC and the university? Officials assure of corruption in KU One injustice for Ranadhir Reddy - another justice for Shankaraiah? One injustice for Ranadhir Reddy. Another justice for Shankaraiah? It was revealed in the audit that Kter Randhir Reddy, who worked as the principal of the KU Education Department, had misused college funds to the tune of over Rs. 8 lakh for his own personal use. Although no complaint was received in this regard, the university formed a committee and sought a report. Before submitting the report, Randhir Reddy deposited the Rs. 8 lakh he had used back into the college account. However, his contract was not renewed. Even now, the registrar and the vice-chancellor are not showing any mercy. But in the case of Shankaraiah, there is a discussion about why there is so much love.

Kasam Shopping Shopping mall shock

Nathari Venkates State Bureau Chief WarangalOctober 5: The security lapses at the Gaanam Fans Shopping Mall, which started with a bang, created a stir on the first day. When thousands of people gathered for the inauguration ceremony, the lighting false ceiling on the first floor suddenly blew off and was seen hanging. Fortunately, there was a discussion that a major accident was averted as no one was downstairs at the time. There is concern about how serious the situation could have been otherwise. The 30th store of Kasam Fashions was inaugurated in Bhupalpally on Monday by actress Nidhi Agarwal. The mall was packed with people as a large number of people gathered for the event. At the same time, the lighting ceiling setup on the first floor suddenly blew off and hung down, causing panic among those present. It is learnt that the alert staff immediately tried to rectify the situation. No one was injured in the incident. Everyone sighed in relief it is because of the work of the clouds? There is a local discussion that the construction and interior work of the building was completed in a short period of time and is ready for the inauguration. In this context, the fact that the inauguration ceremony was held without any roses is raising many doubts. What is the quality of the material used in the interior work? Who installed the ceiling? Who supervised the work? Questions are arising. Hundreds of people commute daily to the commercial area. "Locals say that the falling of parts like ceilings in the complex cannot be dismissed as a common occurrence. The priority given to beauty and attractiveness... has the public's safety also been given priority? A debate has begun. Are there permits? Have inspections been done? In addition to construction permits, fire safety, electrical safety, parking, emergency routes, etc. are crucial for large commercial buildings. Before the building is opened, the relevant authorities will have to inspect the site and ensure safety standards. However, all permits related to the Kasam Fashions building have been obtained. Are they in accordance with the rules? Did the relevant authorities thoroughly inspect the building? If inspections were conducted, how did the peeling defect come to light on the day of the inauguration? Questions are being asked. A narrowly missed threat. The ceiling collapse caused concern during the inauguration ceremony, when there were a large crowd. Locals say that if there were people below at the same time, there would have been a risk of serious injuries to many people. Although they are relieved that an accident has been averted for now, they say that steps need to be taken to prevent such incidents from recurring in the future. Even a small construction defect in an area where people and staff move around every day can lead to a major accident, and this incident. They want to take it as a warning. Where are the inspections by the authorities? "Did the relevant authorities thoroughly inspect the entire building before the inauguration? Did they inspect fire safety, electrical system, false ceiling, emergency exits, etc.? It remains to be clarified. In the wake of the ceiling collapse on the day of the inauguration, the authorities responded immediately and repaired the building. First day.. ceiling is a blast! At the very beginning, danger bell! Was security always tight? A loud opening, and a commotion. "Amidst thousands, a narrowly missed threat! Incident at the opening ceremony of Kasam Fashions is there security in the beauty mall? Who is responsible for anything that happens in the future? People are demanding a thorough inspection of the amount. If there are any errors, they should be corrected and then allowed for public use. The owner should give an explanation. Why did the ceiling collapse? What is the quality of the material used? Who carried out the interior work? Who supervised it? What tests were conducted on safety standards? Locals are demanding that the management of Kasam Fashions provide clarity on issues like this. Many are demanding that the relevant departments thoroughly inspect and bring the facts to light, rather than considering this incident that happened on the first day as just a minor technical glitch.
